Mills Chile Trip Off; Shortage of Funds

By GEORGE GOLDING

The proposed trip of Mills High School students to Chile, at Easter vacation time, has been called off.

Members of the parents' "steering committee" have notified Trustees of the San Mateo Union High School District that "in our opinion sufficient funds cannot be raised by April."

An estimated $80,000 was said to be needed to send as many as 125 Mills High school students to Millbrae's Sister City, La Serena, Chile.

High School District officials had approved the fund raising campaign, in December. Millbrae City Council took a position of unofficially approving the drive, over protests from some citizens that "ambassadors" should not be sent to a nation with a Communist president.

Proponents of the trip had planned to send the Mills High School Band, and other musical groups, to La Serena, as a kind of cultural exchange.

Two dozen teen-agers from La Serena re now in Millbrae, for two months of their "summer vacation," as another part of the same "Sister City" effort.

A parent who has taken an active part in the campaign said this morning that "we might re-group in a few weeks, and work towards sending the youngsters next year.

"But we felt it was unfair to the kids to keep a campaign going, and lead them to believe they stood a chance of going, when we ourselves knew it was impossible."

Mills Principal Dwight Moser explained to District Trustees that the parents' group was finding the funding impossible in such a short time, and the Board withdrew permission to conduct the money-raising drive.

Moser said "students have been involved in the campaign since the beginning, and they realized that it was kind of a long shot."

As a result of their participation in the planning, he said, the students realize the

Merchants Dispute SSF Container Law

A group of South San Francisco merchants filed suit Thursday challenging the city's new ordinance banning the use of one-way beverage containers.

The lawsuit, filed in Superior Court in Redwood City by attorney Thomas L. Bocci, asserts that the law is unconstitutional in a number of ways. It asks the court to nullify the ordinance on constitutional grounds and to enjoin the city from attempting to enforce its terms. The ban is scheduled to go into effect July 1.

Plaintiffs are Angelo Colombo, John and Katherine Wimsatt, Josephine Pasco, Marilyn De Brunn, Gerald and Bunny Virginia Crider, and Nick Jurian. Named defendants are the members of the city council, City Clerk Arthur Rodondi and Police Chief Sal Rosano.

The plaintiffs describe themselves in the suit as "law abiding persons . . . fearful of being arrested as a common criminal in the event said ordinance becomes effective." They state that they are "unwilling and unprepared to expose themselves to criminal prosecution for the purpose of testing the validity of the ordinance" and chose to try to invalidate it before it goes into effect.

The lawsuit asserts that the law is unconstitutional because, among other things, it is discriminatory and attempts to legislate in a field that has been pre-empted by state and federal laws.

Supervisors Rap Report From BART

Censure of the Bay Area Rapid Transit District (BART) for releasing a report on what it might cost San Mateo County to join the district was demanded last week by County Supervisor Robert St. Clair.

The report, prepared by Larry Dahms, BART assistant general manager, fixes the possible cost at $52 million plus a 48-cent tax rate.

The figures are important because of the current study of the feasibility of extending the BART system from Daly City to International Airport in San Mateo County. Dahms' report deals with the possibility that the county might be required to "buy in" to the district before the extension could go in.

The subject was raised last week by Board Chairman James V. Fitzgerald, who serves with Daly City Councilman Frank Pacelli on a board of control that is overseeing the airport link study. Fitzgerald reported that Pacelli had asked that a letter be sent to BART expressing "chagrin and concern" that the Dahms report had been made public. Dahms also serves as project engineer for the airsport study.

St. Clair said the report is "misleading because it makes it sound like it would cost San Mateo County taxpayers $52 million to get BART to the airport" in addition to the estimated $150 million cost of the construction itself. He called the "leaking" of the report to the press "completely unethical."

"I want it made clear," St. Clair said, "that our participation is limited to the study of the airport project and we don't want anyone to get the idea that we are considering opting into the BART district. I think the board should authorize the chairman to issue a real censure of BART."

It was finally agreed that Fitzgerald will send a letter to the district expressing something less than censure but pointing out the displeasure of the San Mateo County representatives.

North County Officials Cool to Costs of BART

By FRANK LAPIERRE

Disclosure January 9 that San Mateo County might have to pay $52 million plus 48 cents on the tax rate to join the Bay Area Rapid Transit District was received coldly by North County officials.

Strongest blast at the report, "leaked" to several newspapers that day, came from Daly City Councilman Frank Pacelli.

Pacelli, also a director on the San Francisco Airport Access Project, was caught off-guard by the report prepared by BART's Asst. Gen. Mgr. Larry Dahms, he said.

According to Dahms, the report was to be released at a later date after BART's board of control could study it.

And this is what disturbs Pacelli who has labeled the report "completely premature."

"This report prepared by Larry Dahms places a severe strain on relationships between BART and the Airport Project Board of Control," Pacelli said.

"We are only now trying to arrive at the very conclusion that this report seems to have concluded," Pacelli said.

Dahms wears two hats: He is not only a top BART official, but also Project Manager for the SFAAP.

"It seems to me the (BART's) Board of Directors should have been kept fully appraised of what (the SFAAP) has been studying through Larry Dahms," Pacelli said.

An interflow of information between the two transit groups should have been experienced, the councilman felt.

If the figures given in the report are correct—or close to the expected costs of having San Mateo County join with the three other counties already in BART — it will be a hard pill for San Mateo County taxpayers to swallow, officials contacted feel.

San Mateo County Supervisor James V. Fitzgerald expressed concern for the costs but said it was difficult to comment on (the report) without seeing it.

Fitzgerald is cochairman of the SFAAP Board of Control and has been a proponent of mass transit on the Peninsula.

The supervisor said, "If the figures are correct I would want a better deal for voters of San Mateo."

The report noted that alternatives to the bulk sum and tax rate levy might be used, but failed to detail what these alternatives were.

Fitzgerald and Pacelli want to look at these alternatives.

Both agree they would be open to listening to a fair deal for taxpayers.

"It's going to take a detailed analysis. We have to look at this (report) and what's good for county taxpayers," Fitzgerald said.

One suggestion to lessen the financial burden of annexing the county to the BART might be the use of bridge tolls that had been earmarked for the Southern Crossing, voted down by San Francisco supervisors last week, Fitzgerald said.

Another solution might be the recently passed $3 billion Federal Aid to Transit Programs.

Daly City Would Bolt the S.M. Convention Bureau

A lack of communication and failure to include Daly City in its committees is the major reasons behind that North County city's desire to bolt away from the County Fair & Convention Association.

This was brought out during a presentation before the Daly City City Council Monday.

Councilman Louis J. Papan noted his city was the second largest in the county, but said he was "befuddled" at the lack of publicity given the city by the Association in its publications.

This point was driven home by fellow councilman Anthony Giamonna.

"I honestly don't see where Daly City is benefitting from the (Fair & Convention) Association," Giamonna said.

Under present agreements cities are supposed to turn over 25 per cent of monies collected under the hotel-motel tax to the county. This revenue is used to promote convention facilities in the county and to publicize the San Mateo County Fair.

Some cities have balked at handing over the full amount and have elected to send in only a fraction often as little as 10 per cent — to the Association.

Late last year Daly City drew up a new agreement that would lower its committment from 25 per cent to 10 per cent and forwarded it to the board. It never was signed or returned.

Again late last year, the North County Council of Cities overwhelmingly expressed dissatisfaction with the operations of the combined Fair & Convention Association. Some city officials felt the Association should be divided with a separate "professional" organization handling the promotion of convention facilities.

The bureau is made up of professional businessmen — not professional convention people, Louis D. Schemone, president of the association's board of directors, informed the council.

Schemone said the association has been in business for some three years. He felt they had made great strides in bringing conventions to the Peninsula.

Sal Millan, general manager of the association, informed the city officials his team was making presentations throughout the county in an effort to determine which cities would be backing it with monies collected from the hotel-motel tax.

Once they find this out they will be better able to draw up their budget, Millan said.

On representation, Millan said Daly City had been asked three times in the past three years to have representatives on various committees.

Each time the city ignored the matter.

But City Manager David Rowe later said this was "news to me."

"I've never heard about these invites," Rowe said.

The council appeared satisfied at the conclusion of the presentation that efforts were being made to include Daly City in future association activities.

23 Candidates in N. County School Races

Tom Kilpatrick, Daly City resident and associate professor of physics at San Francisco State, has filed for a Jefferson Elementary School Board post.

Kilpatrick, who has a son in the fourth grade at Abraham Lincoln School and a daughter in Serramonte High School, was appointed in 1970 as a member of Jefferson Elementary School District Citizen's Philosophy Committee.

He is a graduate of Texas Tech, with a bachelor degree in communications engineering. Kilpatrick received his masters degree in physics from the University of Colorado.

The candidate was a member of the Texas Tech honor society and Alpha Phi Omega, a national service fraternity for the Boy Scouts of America.

In Colorado he served as chief engineer of an electronics firm in Boulder. Kilpatrick also served in the U.S. Army during the Korean War, as an instructor of electronics and chaplain's assistant.

He was an assistant professor of physics and mathematics at the University of Hawaii, working closely with high schools in Hawaii in development of sci-

Resentment Factor in War on Poverty

By VIRGIL WILSON

Resentment because more than two-thirds of the federal War on Proverty money coming to San Mateo County goes to the black area of East Palo Alto-East Menlo Park has been a decisive factor through the years.

Criticism by North County residents has been so strong and prolonged, in fact, that discussions have been held by the Economic Opportunity Commission on the possibility of dividing the county into two operational areas — north and south.

"Too many people look only at problems in their own area," says Edward R. Becks, EOC executive director, "and it is a disservice on the War on Poverty. I look on poverty as a regional, a national problem."

Another critic of the critics is John S. Roselli, a former EOC board member.

"There are too many individualists on the boards," he says, "people who are interested only in their own area and not the entire county. East Palo Alto is entitled to a larger share."

Leader of the fight on the EOC and its predecessor, the Human Resources Commission, for more projects in the northern part of the county has been Antonio Montoya, a South San Francisco civil engineer. In the early days of the War on Poverty very little federal money went to the North County. Due in large part to Montoya's persistence, there has been a shift of some of the South County money to the north.

ANTONIO MONTOYA

"The situation has improved," Montoya says today. "Now we have Head Start programs in Daly City, Pacifica and South San Francisco, information centers and legal aid in Daly City and South San Francisco and youth programs throughout the area.

"But we still need a health

What JESD Parents Want

Neighborhood Schools, Reading Specialists

Daly City parents, indicating an overwhelming desire for neighborhood schools in a special Jefferson Council of P-TA's questionnaire, also listed remedial reading assistance as most important.

Results of the survey, which called for one response from each family in the Jefferson Elementary School District, was presented to trustees last week by Mrs. Peter Markovich, P-TA council president.

Mrs. Markovich said that 1750 questionnaires were returned by parents. She said the council received as high as 253 family responses out of 298 in one school and as low as 18 in another.

"One thing stands clear when the results are tablulated," Mrs. Markovich said. "The tallies from the individual schools match almost exactly the master tally of the district."

She said she believed "this demonstrates that most of us feel about the same when it comes to wanting what we feel is best for our children."

Mrs. Markovich talked briefly about parent involvement.

"While working on the questionnaire and tabulating the results," she said, "I heard parents who were not apathetic, but concerned, who were giving up part of their holiday vacation to work on this."

She exclaimed, "The consensus was that the community must be involved in any decision to change the direction of our district's educational program."

The questionnaire included 12 questions — mostly yes or no, but one multiple choice. All called for (and many were received) comment.

Parents, 1217-106, preferred the schools "staffed as they are now, with one principal to one and occasionally two schools, and a secretary in each school."

They said, 1092 to 162, that they would not prefer a "system which would have an administrator (principal) serving approximately 1000 students, combining the schools in a complex system."

Schoolground maintenance cuts were not favored, 1009-267,

Improvement Tax Suspension

South San Francisco businessmen Wednesday agreed to suspend a self-imposed special improvement district tax and give it a 90-day study.

The decision was far from unanimous. The majority of the more than 60 in attendance were adamant in wanting to rescind the ordinance entirely.

Councilmen called the special meeting because they were deluged with protests on the ordinance, meant to promote a supposedly dying downtown area.

In May the idea of creating a voluntary special assessment district was proposed by businessman Milton Bronstein, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce's Merchants Division.

Bronstein and several others drafted the proposal. They then contacted other businessmen who would be affected and asked their opinion.

The business operators were notified several times of meetings. However, the largest turnout until last night was eight persons.

The ordinance became effective. Merchants quickly complained they didn't know what was happening. They said they were against it.

Bronstein last night appeared exasperated at one point. "Either we want to develop, or we want to die," he said concerning business on Grand Avenue.

Attorney Tom Bocci acknowledged the need for improving the downtown area.

"Raising money through this special improvement district is basically good," said Bocci.

He said, however, that some new formula be worked out to give the merchants the feeling that they had a voice in the matter.

Bocci suggested a committee of 20 be established with ten independent businessmen and ten chamber members.

The businessmen agreed to meet in the council chambers February 23 to discuss the ordinance.

but a review of the community service tax use was desired, 936-351. And, trimming of janitorial services was opposed, 1016-118.

The parents were called upon to rank in order the "seven areas that you feel most vital to your child's education." The top seven were:

Remedial reading (1233), Health services (1002), program for handicapped children (974), speech therapy (914), librarians (831), math and science consultant (824) and counselors (777).

The areas had been listed alphabetically, Mrs. Markovich pointed out. Others included art consultant (233), director of personnel (248) general curriculum consultants (517), music consultants (334), noonyard supervisors (634), psychologists (695).

Mrs. Markovich explained that many parents commented that "they wanted children to learn the basic skills, but all other areas were important; however, they felt that they couldn't support programs unless the basics were learned first."

The responses also indicated that teacher salaries neither should be cut nor frozen.

But there were some questions in which the responses were not overwhelmingly decisive.

The elimination of summer school question, for example, brought a 742-no, 570-yes response. Parents did not favor eliminating the district's cafeteria program.

center and a vocational training center."

A lion's share of the more than $3 million in federal anti-poverty funds allocated to San Mateo County goes to the Neighborhood Health Center in East Palo Atlo and Opportunities Industrialization Center West in Menlo Park. The health center is getting $130,000 a month and OICW, a vocational training center serving all of Santa Clara County, has a $695,000 budget.

Gerald Monroe, EOC board chairman, points out that both projects are funded directly from Washington and are the products of community action.

"The people in the community got together and obtained those programs for themselves," Monroe says.

He sees such events as the recent public hearing in which a group of Mexican-American youths from South San Francisco complained to the EOC that their information center there has not been responsive to their needs as a "positive indication that the community is starting to become more active."

Taxicab Licensing Law Is Sought by St. Clair

San Mateo County Supervisor Robert S. Clair last week called for a county licensing ordinance for taxicab companies.

The ordinance, he said, would give the county power to control unfranchised cabs operating at International Airport, most of which is unincorporated and subject to county laws.

"It is time to have the so-called 'pirate' cab companies come up to the level of all other companies," St. Clair declared. "We don't have any control over them and it is about time we did."

The adjective refers to the practice of some companies of making unauthorized solicitations at the airport. The Yellow Cab Company of San Francisco has an exclusive franchise to solicit fares there.

Dist. Atty. Keith C. Sorenson warned St. Clair that an ordinance could not be restricted to the airport but would apply in all unincorporated areas of the county and would have to include cab companies licensed in the cities, among them the airport franchisee.

"You would be casting a great big net for a very few fish," Sorenson told him.

The district attorney said he doubted that San Francisco Yellow Cab officials would want another licensing agency to deal with. St. Clair, in making his suggestion, referred to a letter from Charles L. O'Connor, senior vice president of the company, to The Post, in which he stated:

"Some two years ago pirate cabs started operating at the airport, taking advantage of the fact that there is absolutely no legislation governing taxicab operation in the unincorporated areas of San Mateo County. These pirate operators are not licensed to operate taxicabs in any San Mateo County municipality, their drivers are subject to no screening by any police department and they have offered the airport no evidence of any insurance that we are aware of. They establish their own rates and operate without legal regulation."

"A county ordinance based on the ordinances in effect in the cities couldn't be bad," St. Clair said.

Young Couple Held in Bruno

San Bruno police have booked a young couple for a January 22 house burglary.

Arrested were Robert Chandler Shinn, 17, and his wife, Dixe Lee, 20, of 249 Milton Ave., Apt. 3.

Police said the charge of possession of stolen property also was made. Items valued at over $400 was taken during the burglary, including clothes, gun, ammo, food and a radio.

San Bruno Seeks Grant

Approval has been given by San Bruno councilmen for application for a federal grant of $70,564 to hire half-a-dozen community service officers.

The grant, administered by the California Council on Criminal Justice, was created through the Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act of 1968.

Under the 36-month project, the city will hire six part-time 17-to-21-year-old youths to act in the capacity of traffic control officers for directing traffic and investigating accidents, according to Police Chief Russell Cunningham.

Griffith Raps Fwy. 380 Project

San Bruno Councilman Dick Griffith has again urged reconsideration of the scheduled construction of Interstate 380 from Junipero Serra to Pacifica.

Griffith cited the recent earthquake in Los Angeles as the latest reason for his objection to the construction. Previously he had said he opposed the construction for ecological reasons.

"It will transverse the San Andreas fault, despoil Crestmoor Canyon and pose a serious disaster threat to the school children of Willard Engvall and Crestmoor Elementary Schools," said Griffith.

Sen. Gregorio Slates Meetings

State Senator Arlen Gregorio (D-San Mateo County) plans six open meetings with constituents in the South San Francisco-Brisbane area Saturday.

His schedule: 9:45 a.m.—Brisbane (Midtown Market); 11 a.m.—In front of City Hall, 400 Grand, South San Francisco; 2 p.m.—Brentwood Shopping Center (corner of Hazelwood and Redwood Way); 3 p.m.—Buri-Buri Shopping Center (in front of Drug King); 4 p.m.—Westborough Square (Safeway Market); 5 p.m.—Morales Hall (209 Miller Avenue).

the state eligible for this aid: San Francisco Bay and the Los Angeles areas, the supervisor pointed out.

"If we can come up with matching funds—at least one-to-one—it would put us in a better (financial) position than if we had come into BART before," Fitzgerald felt.

San Mateo County decided to drop out of the district shortly after it was created several years ago. The district is now made up of three counties—San Francisco, Alameda and Contra Costa.

San Mateo's share for "catching up" on the bond monies already paid by these three counties (or what is referred to as "buying-in") would be $52 million.

A policy statement issued by BART's directors in October noted that any extension of the 75 mile system must be by annexation.

Simply: BART to the airport would require participants in a venture to join BART.

If San Mateo County did not join the system, BART could elect to build a rail line to the Airport without any stations between Daly City and the terminal.

impossibilities, and do not seem overly disappointed by the fund-raising failure.

Principal Moser also said he hoped the parents could get together again and work toward such a goal, in the future.

Mayor William Glang suggested this morning that the campaign was "just too big an undertaking."

"For a group to raise that kind of money, on a one-shot deal, without terrific organization, I didn't think they could do it in that length of time."

An active member of the Lions Club, Mayor Glang pointed out that the local service group has an annual goal of $55,000, and "works all year-round to raise that."

"We didn't want to throw cold-water on their efforts," he said, "but it takes terrific organization, as well as hard work."

Norman Kavanaugh, President of the High School Board of Trustees, read the following statement in a letter from the parents' group:

"In our opinion, sufficient funds cannot be raised by April, and it would be unfair to all concerned, and most importantly to the children, to delay in announcing this decision."

Kavanaugh said "we sincerely regret, it will not be taking place."

S.S.F. Water Costs May Reach $1,000,000

The realization came home to South San Francisco councilmen Wednesday that the city may have to pay nearly $1 million in 1973 for waste water treatment plant improvements.

Facts and figures were laid out by Consultant John Jenks.

He said the city also will probably pay nearly $15,000 within a year for immediate improvements.

Failure to comply could mean stiff penalties.

Jenks explained that the estimated expenditures are estimates. However, they could prove to be exact and necessary to meet new Regional Water Quality Control Board requirements established in December.

Under the requirements cities must submit a time schedule setting forth significant periods when that city will be in full compliance of all regulations.

This time schedule report is due February 15. Jenks prepared it and received agreement last night for its submittal.

South San Francisco's (as well as San Bruno's, since the cities operate the plant jointly) interim improvement calls for the purchase of chemical feed equipment and injector pumps. This covers the estimated expenditure of $15,000.

The second phase of the time schedule, ending in September of 1973, is to plan, construct and put into operation a major outfall line project.

According to Jenks this project is estimated to cost $3.5 million. Half of this amount is to come from state and federal grants. Councilmen originally were led to believe the grants would consume 80 per cent of the cost.

Of the 50 per cent remaining, or approximately $1.7 million, South San Francisco would pay 70 per cent and San Bruno 30 per cent.

Jenks also suggested the councilmen consider the possibility of issuing a bond by November 15 as the means of providing the financing of the project.

Long, Wycoff Debate

A debate between San Bruno Councilman Ted Long and council candidate Orville Wycoff is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. February 25 at Skyline College Campus Theater.

The issue will be the appointment of City Manager Christopher Menkin, according to Mrs. Pete Aria.

Mrs. Aria, chairman of the San Bruno Residents for Fair Debate Committee, set up the debate. She said she is "calling their bluff," a reference to the fact both men supposedly said the other refused to debate the issue.

According to Mrs. Aria, Mayor Neil Christal also was invited, mainly because Wycoff "made repeated attempts" to debate Christal, the man he opposes in the scheduled March 2 election.

Mrs. Aria said the mayor indicated he would not commit himself until he saw a list of the debate rules. She said she prepared them, and sent him a copy. He did not respond. She said she also called him twice. "He wouldn't say yes, and he wouldn't say no. He wouldn't come to the phone," said Mrs. Aria. "I can only assume he didn't want to debate."

Christal said he will be unable to debate because he is scheduled to teach a class that evening in San Francisco. "I was not invited to debate," said Christal. "It was demanded that I debate, that same evening after Wycoff and Long finished. And, I may be slow, but I always "return calls."

Last November an attempt was made to set up a debate including Long, Wycoff, Griffith, Councilmen George Corey and Maurice Hamilton and Menkin.

In a letter dated November 22, Gary Collins, of 439 Hawthorne Ave., said, "This meeting has been arranged (for November 30) in the hope of better informing the general public as well as the individuals involved in the recall."

The debate was to concern itself with the "incidents resulting in the formation of the San Bruno Recall Committee."

According to the letter Long and Wycoff both agreed to participate.

HOME ARTS — Susan Berger (squatting) is instructing a new Daly City Home Arts class, starting today, at Daly City arts and crafts center. She is shown working with crocheting students, above. Nominations Are Sought

Chairman Joseph Bernal today called for nominations for the twenty-first annual presentation by the YMI for South San Francisco Person of the Year.

Nomination for the award are being accepted by the Catholic men's organization. Names, with a brief resume concerning the nominee, may be sent to Bernal, 38 Lilac Lane, South San Francisco.

"This doesn't have to be an adult," Bernal added, "Young people are contributing much to this city. We are anxious to hear about their efforts, too.

Deadline for the nominations is March 15, according to Bernal. The presentation of the award will be made at the group's annual breakfast March 28.

Drug Arrest in S.S.F.

South San Francisco police arrested two unemployed musicians from New Jersey Wednesday night, after allegedly finding dangerous drugs, two hand guns and $77,000 in cash in their possession.

Booked on suspicion of possession of marijuana and dangerous drugs for sale, possession of stolen property and narcotics paraphernalia were Steven Greene, 23, and Yale Levinson, 20.

Police said Officers Art Toscano and Mike Morello responded to a report of suspicious activity at the Holiday Inn on South Airport Boulevard. The occupants of a room were refusing to let the maid clean up the room, police said.

Police said the cash was in 20, 50 and 10-dollar denominations.

Two Sought in Robberies

Daly City police today are seeking identity of two suspects in separate robberies carried out in that city in the past 24 hours.

The first occurred at 4:30 p.m., on Friday, at the Kentucky Fried Chicken, 2815 Geneva Avenue. No amount of loss was immediately available.

Police said a man described as an adult Negro, approximately six foot and weighing 160 pounds, pulled off the robbery with the use of a four-inch-barrel hand gun.

The suspect wore a pea coat, grey T-shirt with a white collar and blue jeans, police said.

In the second incident the Town Motel, 3211 Geneva Avenue, was robbed of cash which police said was "under $100."

The robber used a hand gun described as possibly a .38 caliber. The robber was described as a male Negro, age 35, wearing a grey suit.

He drove away in a brown Chevrolet Camara. The vehicle, police said, has a shattered left window where the motel clerk hit it after firing a shot at the fleeing car.

D.C. Cyclist Is Injured

A 17-year-old Daly City motorcycle rider was injured in a collision with a car in Pacifica Wednesday.

Pacifica police said Joseph Gonzalez of 262 First Avenue, Daly City, slid beneath a car driven by Richard Parks, 29, 3335 Esplanade, Pacifica, at the intersection of Palmetto Avenue and the Coast Highway offramp.

DC Residents Rap Relocation Panel

Two new committees were appointed by the Daly City council at their regular meeting February 8.

One committee which will act as an advisory group for the extension of the Bay Area Rapid Transit District (BART) to San Francisco Airport went through smoothly.

But when the appointment of five members to the new Knowles Avenue Corridor Project Relocation Advisory Committee was brought up, protests erupted from the audience.

The staff had recommended realtor and insurance broker Fred Bargioni; painting contractor Henry Cosmos; civic leader Albert Jenkin; County Housing Authority official executive director Glenn Weman and Charles Vincent, director of the D.C. Recreation, Parks and Maintenance department, to the committee.

Vincent was further assigned the post of Relocation Assistance Coordinator, with City Clerk Mrs. Anna Ohlendorf appointed as Deputy Relocation Office Director.

The hubbub erupted when Information and Referral Center Director Marian Goodman voiced opposition to some of the appointees and asked why two representatives from the involved area were not appointed.

Goodman said the city had earlier, in effect, agreed to name two tenants to the committee.

Councilman disagreed that any understanding had been reached on who was to be appointed to the committee, either with Goodman or Albert Jenkin.

Jenkin had earlier asked for seven members instead of five.

Some councilmen said they felt appointment of tenants from the affected area might be in conflict with what they were attempting to establish — a fair system of aiding in the relocation of persons, selling of houses and related matters dealing with the demolition of structures.

Named to the BART committee were: Victor G. Kyriakis (S.F. attorney); Edward J. Dennis (former D.C. councilman), and Edward R. O'Donnell (Chairman of the D.C. Planning Commission).

JESD Board OKs Deeding of Property

Jefferson Elementary School District trustees have agreed to transfer a strip of property alongside its Colma schools to Daly City.

The land will be used to widen East Market Street.

The school board's motion followed a five-minute recess, called so dissenters Mrs. Dorothy Adams and Bill Schumacher could discuss Daly City's apparent willingness to set down in writing a number of safety and noise items Mrs. Adams and Schumacher hoped to get in return for the land deed.

Mrs. Adams, after the brief break, announced a willingness to transfer the 26,627 square feet, provided both the city and her colleagues agreed to certain conditions.

Among these items was that Pacific Gas and Electric Company be contacted about devising an alternate work schedule so construction would be less disturbing to Colma school classes.

A commitment on the board's part to look into a noise abatement study also was included.

Several items have already been agreed to by the city. Others, are to be put into writing, Mrs. Adams said.

The city has agreed to reconstruct the existing sprinkler system to provide full irrigation of the landscaped areas along East Market, conform, replace and replant all lawn and ice plant in areas affected by the project, construct a retaining wall where necessary, relocate and replace fencing, construct new sidewalk curb and gutter on Hillside Boulevard, between East Market and Lisbon, plant additional shrubs and trees and locate bus loading stands.

3 Arrested in Daly City Dope Raid

Lawmen arrested three persons and confiscated 18 ounces of what appeared to be heroin in a room at the Mission Bell Motel in Daly City Sunday.

The authorities booked Domingo Dias, 39, 11081 Haight Street, Castroville; Robert Ramirez, 32, 2527 East 131st Street, Compson and Maria M. Dominguez, 22, 154 South Union Place, Los Angeles, according to Daly City police.

State narcotics agents and Daly City and San Francisco policemen staged the 2:50 p.m. raid. The suspects were booked on charges of possession a drug other than marijuana, police said.

Trio Nabbed in Burglary

Three burglary suspects were arrested Wednesday minutes after they looted a South San Francisco home.

The trio, which included a San Francisco woman, were spotted by neighbors breaking into the Shannon Drive home of Paul Passelli about 3 p.m., police said.

An all-points bulletin was issued and the suspect car was seen heading north on the Junipero Serra Freeway by Broadmoor police chief Ray Savage.

Savage stopped the car and arrested Dolores Bilora, 32, Alexander Herman da Vinci, 26, of Vallejo, and Walter Newell, 30, of San Francisco.

Police said the car contained items taken in the burglary.

SSF Tutorial Program Set

The program is being developed by high school students of the South San Francisco Unified School District.

Persons of the community who are interested in becoming volunteer tutors are cordially invited to attend an orientation meeting in the auditorium of the brary on West Orange Avenue, on Thursday at 7:30 p.m.

Further information about tutoring services or volunteer work may be obtained by leaving your name and phone number at the El Camino High School Counseling Office, or at the South San Francisco Public Library on West Orange Avenue.

S.S.F. Damien House Will Be Renovated

Renovation of the proposed Damien House building in South San Francisco will be started shortly with the social assistance center for youth anticipated to be in operation within 30 days.

Jerry Krawetz of the South San Francisco Damien House noted the local operation will not receive funds from the United Crusade this year, although the San Mateo Damien House is an agency of the UBAC. All funds for the initial months of operation will come from the community.

Krawetz reported the recent "Help" campaign for Damien netted $6,500 with $3,500 coming from a major South San Francisco industry.

Krawetz said the door-to-door campaign conducted recently netted $1,500 of the total. He said the business community had been very helpful with contributions. "We should have enough to renovate the house, which needs a lot of work, and operate for about three to four months," he said.

"We have one grant from the San Francisco foundation," Krawetz stated and the Damien House organization plans to approach the Bay Area Crusade about mid-year for a grant."

The Damien House is open to teenagers and adults, although Krawetz said the bulk of the operation is concerned with youth. The house will handle any type of problem, or will refer the caller to the proper agency.

The house has a working relationship with the police department and Krawetz said that according to law the house must notify the police and the parents. He emphasized, however, the police advise them to retain the youth if the parent cannot be contacted. "We can't hold anyone here against their will, but if they want to stay, they can," he said. Young people who stay at the house must have parental consent as well as consent of the police department.

Krawetz said the house is very strict about drug possession or use.

Capuchino Reunion Set

Less than one-quarter of the 400 plus members of the graduating class have been contacted and planners of the reunion are requesting that '61 graduates write to P. O. Box 33, San Bruno, California 94066, or contact Mrs. Joyce (Thompson) Shinn, 1600 Crestwood Drive, San Bruno.

Post Deadline

Millbrae Dentist Is Wed

The Hillsborough home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl S. Rankin was the setting on Sunday for the reception which followed the wedding of Dr. Allen Clifford Erceg of Millbrae and San Francisco and Helen Ingeborg Anit Ericsson. The Rankins are friends of the bride.

The couple exchanged vows at 3 p.m. at Old Saint Mary's Church in San Francisco before the Rev. Anthony J. Wilhelm, CSP. For the service, Helen wore a traditional floor length white satin gown with cathedral length train and a double lace long veil.

The bride is the daughter of Gustav Ericsson, a Swedish author, and Mrs. Agnes Ericsson who is now known as Sister Monica, a member of the Benedictine House, Stanbrook Abbey, England. She attended the ceremony and Dr. Erceg's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Anton Erceg of Seaside, Ore., also were present.

Helen was escorted to the altar by Charles Shatto, the organist of Notre Dame des Victoires. Her sole attendant was her twin sister, Margaret Ericsson of San Francisco.

Dr. John Bolenbaugh stood with the benedict as best man and George Snow and Manuel Montano shared ushering duties.

Helen was graduated from Los Angeles City College where she belonged to Sigma Beta sorority. Her husband, who is a dental surgeon, earned his doctorate degree from the University of the Pacific.

The Listening Post by Lyle Arnold & Alex Florea

All too often, people who are hard of hearing make themselves and others unhappy by refusing to face the fact and wear a hearing aid. They fail to realize that recent great advances in electronics have now made aids so small that they are less conspicuous and more comfortable to wear than glasses. Also, so efficient and "hi-fi" that formerly objectionable background noises and group conversation confusion have been practically eliminated.

But before we tell you more about modern instruments, permit us to introduce ourselves. We—Lyle J. Arnold Sr., and Alex Florea — are professional consultants who have operated Custom Hearing Aid Service at 1130 Broadway in Burlingame since 1964, and now serve over 1,000 clients.

Between us we have over a third of a century of experience in measuring hearing loss and interpreting audiometer results. Our offices—the best-equipped in Northern California—contain over $5,000 worth of electronic devices to aid us in determining and dispensing the proper type of aid for each individual hearing problem, among the hundreds of models available.

The Snow-Fun Buffs

The weather has been especially kind to snow-fun buffs these past winter months! First there were the heavy storms and deeps drifts of snow and then followed cold nights and glorious days, a combination sure to lure even the most timid into the mountain wonderlands. Now the deep packs are beginning to show the effects of so much sun and too little replenishment but, for the casual snow enthusiast, there are still many days of fun left in the Sierra.

Under the circumstances it wasn't too difficult to locate willing advisors to accompany the members of the Mercian Teen Club on the club's projected ski and snow-fun trip scheduled for Saturday. Hence, according to Mrs. Francis Kelly, publicity chairman for the Westlake Catholic Women, Mrs. Raymond Forcina, Mrs. James Murray and Dick Galliani, will be among those bundled and yawning sojourners who will assemble in the Our Lady of Mercy Parking lot at 5 a.m. waiting to board buses for Boreo Ridge.

The day long event has been the brainchild of the teen-agers of the parish and that age group is expected to be out, en masse, Saturday for the outting, Mrs. Kelly indicated.

In other news from the Our Lady of Mercy parish, Mrs. Kelly urges everyone to begin cleaning, drawers, cupboards and closets in anticipation of the spring season, and to assist with one of the parish's pre-festival fund raisers, the annual rummage sale.

As in years past, the rummage sale committee will be collecting usable, clean clothing, bric-a-brac, books, records and small appliances.

ONE OF THE LOCALITES taking part in the formal observance of the sixty-first anniversary of the Boy Scout Movement in the United States was John Madrosen of Westlake.

Madrosen, a native Californian and inveterate hunter, fisherman, hiker and member of the Sierra Club, was the guest speaker at the Parent-Scout banquet sponsored by Troop 143 in the Fort Mason Officers' club last Thursday evening.

MRS. BARBARA REICH, publicity chairman for the San Mateo County YWCA, reports that the local unit will begin a course in authentic Chinese Cooking, next Wednesday, February 24, at 10 a.m. in the War Memorial Building in Daly City.

Justine Williams, Y director, has arranged to have Linda Lew demonstrate the various cooking techniques from Peking, Shanghai and Tzechuan during a series of seven classes which will be held from 10 a.m. until noon on Wednesdays.

Anyone interested in taking the course or, for additional information about the classes, call the Y office, 756-7370, or drop into the offices located in the Westlake building, 375 South Mayfair, in the Westlake shopping center.

THE MEMBERS of the Holy Angels Women's Guild will hold their annual spring retreat on Thursday, February 25, in the Holy Angels Catholic Church, 107 San Pedro Road in Daly City.

According to Mrs. John Lagomarsino, Fr. Joseph Priestly will be the retreat moderator.

All women of the parish are invited to be on hand for the 9 a.m. ceremonies commencing the day-long period of study and reflection.

Participants will be served coffee and dessert at noon to compliment the bag lunch each woman will be asked to bring with her. The day's schedule of events will conclude with mass ending at 2:30 p.m.

No reservations are required but persons with questions concerning the day of recollection are asked to contact the guild's spiritual director Mrs. John Provenzale, 756-3144.

A SPECIAL ASH WEDNESDAY service will be held February 24, beginning at 8 p.m. in the sanctuary of Lakeside Presbyterian Church, Nineteenth Avenue at Eucalyptus Drive, in San Francisco.

The service, which will open the Lenten season of activities, will be conducted by Dr. Roe H. Johnston and the Rev. Mr. Allan L. Sturtevant.

Camp Fire Candy Still Being Sold

The Camp Fire girls annual candy sale is still in progress. The girls are ringing doorbells or standing in front of banks selling their three types of candy.

Pecana prides, select chocolates, and mint cream sticks are all products of the Mrs. J. G. McDonald chocolate company and sell for $1 a box. The girls selling the candy are recognized by their white blouse and navy blue jumpers for Blue Birds, and white blouse with navy skit and hat for the older Camp Fire girls.

Profits from the sale help support the programs.

"We've never reached our goal as yet, but we will this year you can bet" is the slogan the girls have set for themselves.

To help accomplish this the sale is set to run throughout the whole month of February to give all girls from Blue Birds through Junior High Camp Fire girls a chance to get to every residence of the city.

Anyone who is missed by the sale or who wants additional boxes should call the main Camp Fire office in San Francisco.

Joint Pacifica, HMB AAUW Meet Today

The Pacifica Branch of the American Association of University Women has invited the Half Moon Bay Branch to dinner and discussion today at 6 p.m.

Each Pacifica member will contribute her special casserole or salad to the affair which will be held at the Holy Cross Lutheran Church in Linda Mar.

The Half Moon Bay Branch will contribute the food for thought — a discussion of community problems of importance to the Coastside — with special attention to hike and bike trails, continuation of the county jail study, and the fate of San Mateo's Community Colleges.

The six San Mateo County Branches of the American Association of University Women have voted for strong support for a yes on the March 2 tax rate election.

Mrs. Lowell Brubaker, president of the Half Moon Bay unit, who is in charge of the program, announced that Mrs. Paul McBride of Pacifica will be the speaker from Skyline College.

In addition, the two groups will discuss implementation of the AAUW County Council's recommendation to insure the inclusion of hiking and bicycle trails in all future transportation planning at both the local and county level.

The two branches are also seeking action in the regulation of off-the-road motor vehicles.

The Pacifica Branch will hear a report from the nominating committee, Mrs. Carl McCarthy, Mrs. Lowell James and Mrs. Dan Robinson, in anticipation of the group's annual meeting in March.

Mrs. Henry Boudinot and Mrs. Julian Reinhertz were Pacifica's participants in the AAUW Regional Education Workshop on February 10.

They were a part of the group which observed the Ilio Project at San Carlos High School, an important innovation in reaching the "turned off" student.

The American Association of University Women is open to all women graduates of four year colleges, and is dedicated to direct action and involvement in community, state and national affairs.

Skyline Film Program

The Kinetic Art Series 2, one of the most original film programs ever assembled, will be shown at Skyline College in San Bruno on three Saturday evenings—February 20, February 27, and March 6.

The Kinetic Art Series 2's 22 films are divided into three different programs and represent the newest and best work of 18 avant-garde film makers from around the world.

None of the 22 films has ever had a regular theater showing in this country and are available only to colleges, museums and art centers under the auspieces of Universal Kinetic. Many of the films are prize-winners at International Film Festivals.

The West Coast is represented by the light show pyrotechnics of Jordan Belson's "Momentum" and "Re-Entry," and by the mind boggling infinities of "A Rough Sketch for a Proposed Film Dealing with the Powers of Ten and the Relative Size of Things in the Universe" by Venice, California, designer and film maker Charles Eames.

The legendary "Egypte, O Egypte," written and narrated by Jean Cocteau was produced during 1961-62, but apart from its showings at the 1963 Cannes Film Festival and the Paris Biennale, the film has never been placed in general exhibition in any country until its present showing in The Kinetic Art Series 2.

The series will open February 20 at 8 p.m., in the main theater of Skyline College.

Series tickets for all three evenings are $3. Single tickets for each program are $1.50 for adults and $1.25 for students. Series tickets may be purchased in advance through the Community Education Office of Skyline College, 3300 College Drive, San Bruno, 94066.

Single tickets will be available at the door on th evenings of the performances.

28 Westmoor Scholarship Competition Semifinalists

Twenty-eighteen Westmoor seniors emerged as semifinalists in the 1971 state scholarship competition.

Semifinalist status was achieved by having a high grade point average and gaining a high score on the College Entrance Examination Board's Scholastic Aptitude Test.

The 28 needed to prove financial need, determined by the Parents Confidential Financial Statement, which they must furnish the State Scholarship Committee.

The State Scholarships are not prizes for academic achievement, but are grants of money to be used for payment of tution and fees to students who have displayed ability and achievement and who are in need of financial assistance at the college of their choice.

Awards at independent colleges range from $500 to $2000. Awards at the University of California vary from $300 to $600 and state colleges are in the amount of fees charged at approximately $150.

Semi-finalists are Linda Balanesi, Sylvia Bates, Marilyn Blume, Peggy Brooks, Lois Buada, Marlene Cannova, Debra Colombana, John Golder, Carol Gomez, Rosalia Guillen, Craig Harada, Jeffery Harris, Marilee Jeppson, Elaine Katapodis, Gilda Krips, Janie Layton, and Mark Lester.

Other finalists are Rodger Mattson, James Musslewhite, Douglas Napp, Gary Niduaza, Janet Plant, Hilary Reece, Roseanne Regal, Gordon Reynolds, David Riley, Samuel Skootsky, and Judith Thompson.

State scholarships are one-year awards, renewable until such time as a student has received a bachelor degree or completes eight semesters beyond high school.

The winners will be announced from the group of semi-finalists, April 9.

A SATIRE ON SOCIAL concern was the theme of various skits performed by Westmoor's second period drama class in the Little Theater.

The play was performed under the direction of Miss Therese Limscher, student teacher of the class, and was divided into five skits entitled the "Family," Sudsy Soap Commercial," "Redwood Tree Lot Commercial," "Captain Westmoor Show," and a "Genetic Engineering Skit,"

The family ikit featured Mark Lester and Anna Ludowieg.

Sugar 'n Spice

Good Morning, good cooks.

Creative baking really paid off in Honolulu last week when good cooks from all over the country gathered for the Pillsbury Bake-Off. When all the measuring, sifting, mixing and baking was done, Mrs. Pearl Hall of Snohomish, Wash. was the grand winner. Her recipe for a bar cookie recipe that uses a cake mix and has a pecan pie filling was the $25,000 grand prize winner.

It really is a grand cookie, all my family tasters agree. Give it a try and see if your family doesn't think it's a winner too.

PECAN PIE SURPRISE BARS

1 package (18½ oz.) Pillsbury Butter or yellow cake mix
½ cup butter or margarine, melted
1 egg
1 cup chopped pecans

FILLINGS

⅔ cup reserved cake mix
½ cup firmly packed brown sugar
1½ cups dark corn syrup
1 teaspoon vanilla
3 eggs

Preheat oven to 350-degrees. Generously grease bottom and sides of 13x9-inch baking pan. Reserve two-thirds cup dry cake mix for filling.

In large mixing bowl, combine the remaining dry cake mix, half cup melted butter and one egg; mix until crumbly. Press into prepared pan. Bake at 350-degrees 15 to 20 minutes until light golden brown. Meanwhile, prepare the filling. Pour filling over partially baked crust; sprinkle with pecans. Return to oven and bake 30 to 35 minutes until filling is set. Cool; cut into bars.

FILLING

In large mixing bowl combine the two-thirds cup reserved cake mix, one half cup brown sugar, one and one-half cups dark corn syrup, one teaspoon vanilla and three eggs; beat at medium speed one to two minutes. Yield: three dozen bars.

Claudia Lynn Stafford won $1,000 for this casserole dish. It was chosen because it had the best nutritional balance, most protein and least cost per serving.

BEEF-IT-UP CASSEROLE

1 to 1¼ lbs. ground beef
½ cup chopped onion or 2 tablespoons instant minced onion
¼ cup diced green chilies or green pepper
1 cup (8 oz. can) tomato sauce
2 teaspoons chili powder
½ to three-fourths teaspoon garlic salt
1 can (8 oz.) Pillsbury Refrigerated Buttermilk or country style biscuits
1½ cups shredded Monterey Jack or Cheddar cheese
½ cup dairy sour cream
1 egg, slightly beaten

Heat oven to 375-degrees.

In large frying pan, brown the pound to pound and one-quarter ground meat, half cup chopped onion and fourth cup green pepper; drain. Stir in the 8 ounces tomato sauce, two teaspoons chili powder and one-half to three-fourths teaspoon garlic salt. Simmer while preparing dough.

Separate biscuit dough into 10 biscuits; pull apart into two layers. Press 10 biscuit layers over bottom of ungreased 9 or 9-inch square pan. Combine ½ cup cheese (reserve remaining cheese for topping) the half cup sour cream and egg; mix well. Remove meat mixture from heat; stir in sour cream mixture; spoon over dough. Arrange remaining biscuit layers on top; sprinkle with remaining cheese.

Bake at 375-degrees for 25 to 30 minutes until biscuits are golden brown.

TIPS: Reheat, loosely covered with foil, at 375-degrees for 20 to 25 minutes until heated through.

To make ahead, prepare, cover and refrigerate up to 2 hours before baking. Bake at 375-degrees for 30 to 35 minutes.

CORRECTION: In last week's Abraham Lincoln Cake the amount of flour was left out in the list of ingredients, though it was listed in the method. The amount of flour needed is: 3 cups sifted flour.

JHS Student Government Class Plans

By SUE McALLISTER
Jefferson High School

THE NEW STUDENT Government class, led by student body president Vita Hillman, is initiating many activities for the spring semester.

Already the class has had guest speakers. On February 3, Linda Montinegro spoke to the class concerning a benefit dance for muscular dystrophy, a disease that afflicts children paralyzing and eventually killing them.

The class was responsive to the idea and a tentative date of April 23 has been set. Other interested students are investigating additional money-raising ideas for worthy causes.

THREE COLLEGE of San Mateo students addressed the class about the upcoming school bond election for the junior college district.

They urged student involvement in the activities to help get the tax bond approved. Many of the students signed up for the various jobs which must be done — precinct and telephone work, coffee klatches and good-image campaigning.

BILL REECE AND Jenny Flores spoke to the class concerning different and critical issues. Reece spoke of his activities in connection with the Daly City Information and Referral Center board of directors.

He is the Jefferson IRC representative, and one of his discussions had to do with the lunches served in the various cafes of the district. He also explained that one of the main purposes of the center is to secure jobs for students on the "Fair Tour" plan and graduates.

Miss Flores discussed formation of a students' standards committee to help clear up the discrepancies of some rules in the district's Student Handbook. Jenny is one of the student representatives to the executive council. Her job is to get suggestions on how the students should be chosen to serve on the committee.

THE JEFFERSON delegation to the Model United Nation is making final preparations for the February 18-19 conference at the University of California, Berkeley.

The delegates will take part in discussions concerning proposed resolutions involving the world's key issues. The delegation is representing "The Gambia" and will play the role of the country, voting the way The Gambia would on the issues.

Members of the delegation are Linda Adreveno, Jenny Flores, Carol Badran, Sue Chervellera, Angela Tomosello, Fern Tracey, Vita Hillman, Margine Sako, Jackie Hastings, Darlene Schultz and Sue McAllister.

FOR TWO YEARS Jeff has conducted a successful program in the girls' physical education department involving student aides.

The intent of the program was to give senior girls first-hand experience in conducting a physical education class. The program has been expanded to encompass Colma Intermediate School.

The aides will teach the seventh and eighth grade girls' P.E. classes two days a week during their student-aide period. If the program is successful it might be expanded to every day.

HOLY ANGELS PARISH rummage sale will feature variety, according to Mrs. C. Rich and Mrs. M. Loretta, co-chairmen for the February 20 event at the church hall, 107 San Pedro Road, Colma. Sale of such items as those being sorted above will be from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. (Starr Photo.)

SOLD SHIRTS

To pay the bill for their new marching band hats, members of Westmoor High School's Music Department sold T-shirts emblazoned with four different pictures: a dove and a peace symbol, "Snoopy," George Harrison, and a picture of a skier.

Terra Nova Topics

By Rockie Montenegro

The representative delegations of Czechoslovakia and Bolivia depart for the Model United Nations tomorrow in the form of Terra Nova's International Relations Club. The student delegation (ten from each country) that will spend three days at UC Berkeley will include:

Debbie Peckell, Kathe Goodman, Michele Tebaldi, Sylvia Garcia, Karin Sweeney, Sue Booher, Eileen Dunn, Tonya Houg, Cyndy McCarley;

Rick Mendez, Bruce Patterson, Rockie Montenegro, Anna Jiminez, Pat Connolly, Larry Holyoke, Bruce Lord, Vikie Mosley, Lisa Simons, Pat Bresnahan, Doug McCoy.

The Model UN is an annual program in which high schools from all over California participate. Each high school represents a country.

The country then divides itself into five committees:

1 — The Human Rights Commission (discussing the status of women);

2 — Special Political Committee (dealing with means of increased self-determination in Africa — including the problems of apartheid, Namibia, resolution of border conflicts, etc.);

3 — Internal Study Commission (concentrating on possible changes in the UN's internal structure);

4 — Political Security Council (concerning international boundary conflicts and disputes which present hazzards to world peace);

5 — Special Study Commission (regarding the reservations of sea beds, ocean floors, and outer space for peaceful purposes).

Each country sends two delegates to attend each committee meeting. The delegates then set the resolutions that were previously submitted and accepted by MUN coordinators for discussion of each committee.

General Assembly sessions caucus meetings, and bloc meetings are also held.

The whole procedure of the conference is patterned after the United Nations in new York. Some spirited high schools even turn out dressed in the national costumes of their country.

The students who attend the Model UN come back with a realistic picture of how the United Nations is run, and pick up valuable experiences and new insights as they attempt to "solve" world problems.

It's a colorful, exciting, and fun-filled way to learn.

Events Set by Sorority

Glory Leonard, president of north area's chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha, Int'l., Beta Sigma, has held reinstatement ceremonies for Alice Otsea, to bring the membership to eleven.

The philanthropic organization has a full schedule planned to insure a bigger donation to the aid to the visually handicapped — the recipient of all time and monies raised this year.

A game booth will be manned March 20 in the Serramonte mall, using a nautical theme in following the year's goal of "Voyage to Fullfillment."

March 27 is the date for the luncheon-fashion show at the Homestead Community Hall on West Portal Avenue in San Francisco with McDonald's of Serramonte showing the latest spring fashions. Tickets and information is available by calling Mrs. Olive Rubek in Daly City.

Final plans for a rummage sale to be held April 17 in San Bruno will be announced by Mrs. Lois Orent.

Latest Styles at S.F. Show

The only showing in San Francisco of the exotic new spring fabric of Boussac of Paris, featuring the latest creations of international and American designers, will benefit the American Cancer Society, San Mateo County Unit, according to the sponsors of the long-awaited event. Chandlers' popular Warp 'n Woof Fabric Stores.

Entitled, "Collection '71 — The Fine Art of Fashion," the hour-long presentation will be held at 11 a.m. and 8 p.m. on February 16, Scottish Rite Auditorium, 19th Avenue and Sloat Boulevard, San Francisco.

It's Publish or Perish!

There is one hazard of writing a cooking column that I can usually avoid: the overly helpful recipe hound who has "one that you just HAVE to put in your column."

Thank you, ma'am, I'll certainly consider it, I say. Sure thing. Then I forget about it; there's just no room.

But today I am running one of those recipes. I have to, because the nice Italian girl who gave it to me works here. If I don't run it I'll never hear the end of it.

Every day for the last two weeks it's been, "Tom, why don't you write about MINESTRA? I tell you this recipe has everything. Cheap. Few calories. Great as leftovers. Come on, be a sport."

And so, since my arm is getting pretty red where's she's been punching it the last two weeks, I'll give in.

She swears, straight-faced, that Minestra (or, as some Italians call it, "greens-and-beans") is an Italian country recipe that has been in her family since the time of Nero. It makes a great soup and is substantial enough to make a main dish.

MINESTRA

2 healthy bunches endive
2 cups navy white beans
2 10" sticks pepperoni

Trim the endive (just cut off a bit at the base of the stalk, my informant says) and break the stalks in half. Then add the endive, bit by bit, to a 3 qt. saucepan half-full of boiling water Take your time, because the endive will be in that saucepan for eight hours.

Then, in a separate saucepan, boil your beans for three hours. Keep a sharp eye on them; they soak up water even quicker than rice. When they're through, drain them and dump them in with the endives, which you should stir once in a while.

Cut the pepperoni into half-inch slices and dump in with the rest of the mixture. Then cover the saucepan and let it cook over medium heat for a total of eight hours, stirring occasionally and checking to make sure there is just enough water to maintain a thick soupy consistency. There won't be much room for water, because the endive ought to come right to the top of the pot.

I was going to ask the girl when her ancestors found time to do the chores, but she might have hit me again.

Anyway: this recipe could serve 20, but leftovers can be frozen and the girl claims it's better each time it's reheated. Serve with a loaf of French bread and a gallon of good red vino.

Camellia Talk Planned by Bruno

Mrs. Donald George will discuss all phases of camellias when the San Bruno Garden Club meets on Thursday at 8 p.m. at the Old Firehall in San Bruno.

Also on the agenda is a talk on the March bond issue by a speaker from the San Mateo Junior College System.

The club membership recently voted to make a donation to the World Gardening Fund. It will be used to buy seeds and garden tools for people in South Korea.

Daly City Spruce-Up?

TIP 'O THE TOPPER — This week, to the Daly City-Colma Chamber of Commerce's ambitious plans for sprucing up the city. At the last Board of Director's meeting (which ended five minutes early) Al Belotz and Ron Bates reported the committee was making much headway in several community betterment projects and was at the point where it might be helpful to exchange "meaningful dialogue" (whatever that means) with the city council.

Director Don Davis, manager of Westlake Shopping Center's Penney's department store, suggested the committee meet with the council carrying a rifle rather than a shotgun. Now, now folks stop that clapping out there. Don simply meant the committee should zero in on five subjects instead of 20. And he didn't mean THOSE five that sit on the council. At least I don't think he meant those five. At any rate, the members agreed that more action could be expected if pressing items like junked cars, littering and the like were discussed with city fathers rather than the entire project.

IT WAS AN INTERESTING meeting — But nothing you'd write home about. The handful of directors and Yours Truly listed to Matteo V. Fasanaro, assistant superintendent for Business at CSM, talk about the pros of voting the upcoming bond issue through. Frankly, Fasanaro talks so fast we wore our pencil down to the nub and still didn't catch everything he said. The way everyone at the luncheon looked at the next guy, smiled and nodded his head in agreement clearly showed they missed most of Fasanaro's stuff, too. We could tell at the outset of the talk it was truly the "Year of the Boar" (Bore?).

AWRIGHT AWREADY — So Toto Spadarella isn't in Europe like we said three weeks ago. So what? Some people will do ANYTHING to disrupt our usually precise writings.

ONLY ONE PERSON has filed for the County Board of Education post to date, with two others telling that they may also toss in their hats. The candidate? Ron Bates of the OP who listed his occupation as "newspaper editor." The others: Maury Tolson and Mrs. Repa Krips.

BANDLEADER SAL CARSON back from Harvey's Wagon Wheel at Lake Tahoe claims there was so much snow while he was up there he thought for awhile the place was inhabited by politicians. No, but seriously folks the place was hit by the biggest single snow storm in many years during Sal's stay.

VETERAN THUGS AT 13 — Get this one: Two 13 year old hoods armed with hunting knives accosted two kids, ages 9 and 11, in the S.F. county jail area near San Bruno and robbed them of . . . a package of cigarettes.

WHAT'S IN A NAME — Depends who you're talking to. Dr. John Connelly's associate is Dr. Roy O. Kroeker (pronounced Croaker). And wouldja mind seeing the other patient first, doc?

HILLSIDE HOMEOWNERS Improvement Club will hold their annual (and very successful) installation dinner at the Italian American Social Club on Mission street on March 6. Persons desiring to attend had better call Mrs. L. B. Jones right now!! The revenues received will be used for a worthy cause — like a great dinner and dancing for several hours.

LARRY DAHMS, the go-getter for BART, will be the guest speaker Thursday at the Daly City-Colma Chamber. Wouldn't miss that meeting for the world, speaking for myself. Dahms spent eight years with Legislative Analyst A. Alan Post before joining BART two years ago. His talk is expected to center around the latest report regarding San Mateo's cost of joining in the overall transit system — $52 million cash down payment plus some 48.5 cents on $100 of assessed valuation. He is now the assistant general manager of the district and is considered the "boy wonder" of BART.

Southern Pacific Holds Fixed Rail Transit Key in San Mateo County

By FRANK LAPIERRE

THE SOUTHERN PACIFIC Railroad Company holds the key to construction of a fixed rail transit system on the Peninsula. Without SP's cooperation such a system would be economically unfeasible.

Last of Series

For the past five years SP officials have offered to cooperate with any agency in building a system along their San Mateo right-of-way with one major proviso: Such a system must take SP completely out of the transit business.

The magic word is "completely."

What SP fears is that anything less than a complete transit system between San Jose and downtown San Francisco will not solve the problem of moving people economically. It will only take the "heart" out of their commuter system between Menlo Park to the south and South San Francisco in the north.

It will be SP's responsibility of service passengers at both ends of the line, a service that could run SP's commuter service deeply into the red.

Already SP has shown interest in cooperating with BART on use of its right-of-way between Daly City and the airport. It asks only that provision be made for movement of freight to customers along this track.

B. F. Biaggini, president of SP, recently reiterated his opposition to sharing of the right-of-way along the so-called "Bayshore corridor" with rapid transit.

This came in the form of an answer to a query made by supervisor James V. Fitzgerald last November.

Fitzgerald asked Biaggini several questions including his thoughts on sharing the right of way; extension of the company's Third and Townsend terminus to hook up with BART's downtown station, and an interface station near the San Francisco Airport.

Answers to each were negative.

It was the same answers given five years ago to the Westbay Rapid Transit Authority (WBRTA).

By law SP must continue to run a commuter service until it can be proved to the PUC that another agency is capable of supplying the needs of commuters.

"The questions posed in your letter really have only one answer, and that is that the present SP track system and volume of traffic thereon will not accommodate greatly increased service between the vicinity of the airport and San Francisco . . .", Biaggini wrote.

Freight operations are just not compatible with rapid transit, it was explained.

SP now carries some 12,000 commuters on its trains daily. It operates 22 commuter trains on the 47-mile run between San Francisco and San Jose.

In 1967, the company purchased another $3 million in double-decked gallery cars.

The SP is governed by the state Public Utilities Commission and must provide a commuter service for the people living on the Peninsula.

Joseph A. Holmes, assistant chief engineer of SP, said he was working closely with BART's assistant general manager Larry Dahms on details surrounding sharing of the Colma branch line right-of-way for the initial Daly City to San Francisco airport link.

The reason SP is against any interface station in the South San Francisco-San Bruno area is because it would likely pull patrons off SP trains in that area and put them on BART, Holmes feels.

A November 1970 report issued by SFAAP notes that SP might lose some of its passenger revenues if rapid transit is constructed to the airport.

The feelings of those connected with transit is that whatever attitude SP maintains on the subject must be considered "crucial."

Holmes agrees there should be a single service transit system between San Francisco and San Jose.

Engineers say the SP right-of-way from Daly City to San Jose is ideal. With a minimum of private land purchases necessary to widen the right-of-way, both freight and rapid transit could operate simultaneously.

This right-of-way availability would hold the cost of the line to an absolute minimum, experts explain.

Engineers agree that joint usage of the existing SP tracks is out of the question. They emphasize that freight trains and rapid transit don't mix.

However, they feel that sharing of this right-of-way can be accomplished by construction of a separate transit system either alongside, over or under the SP tracks.

Because of conditions encountered along the Peninsula, any transit system must be flexible. It must be designed to go aerial, subway and alongside the SP line as local conditions dictate, engineers point out.

Costs cannot be arrived at until actual planning gets under way.

"If we could plan on any one design, cost estimates could be readily arrived at," Larry Dahms, assistant general manager of BART explained.

Dahms said subway would be most expensive, while second highest costs would be experi- "However, when I was told buying into the system would cost about $250 million I backed off."

Mass transportation is an alternate to covering the entire Peninsula with concrete, Day said.

Day is a member of the newly formed California Mass Transportation Commission which was scheduled to hold its first meeting soon. This commission is charged with coming up with a master plan for all modes of transportation in the Bay Area. enced in building an aerial line. Most economical would be a grade level track.

As it now stands, a combination of all three is necessary.

Many cities along the Peninsula are perfectly satisfied with the existing SP service. They support a mass transit system that would "feed" patrons to the SP trains at peak commuter hours, nothing else.

San Mateo County Supervisor Gerald F. Day wants mass transit for citizens. However, he does not want a system that will place a heavy financial burden on taxpayers, he said.

For this reason he voted against appropriation of monies for study of the extension to San Francisco Airport.

"I recognize we are going to have to have mass transit on the Peninsula," Day said.

Daly City Councilman Frank Pacelli allows that money is a key factor in consideration of rapid transit, but warned residents not to be "penny wise and pound foolish" in their decisions on this subject.

"We just can't afford the luxury of missing out (on transit), especially the businessmen on the Peninsula," Pacelli said.

Where the money will come from for any mass transit system remains a touchy subject that sparks taxpayers into immediate action.

South San Francisco councilman Warren Steinkamp, alternate to Pacelli on the SFAAP Board of Control, thinks it is "incomprehensible that San Mateo taxpayers will pay (for the system)."

Federal monies are the answer —or at least part of the answer.

But even if the federal government antes up the needed cash, it is still taxpayers' money being spent, officials point out.

The county depends in great part on the airport for its economic well-being and growth. Without good mass transportation the airport will undoubtedly suffer revenue losses, experts predict.

And the airport with its growing work force "makes a lot of cash registers ring around San Mateo County," Henry Bostwick, executive director of the San Mateo County Development Association, quickly points out.

Moving Story

In the What's New Department, there is the factual yet moving story of the Indian persecution by the white man. Taking his title, "Bury my Heart at Wounded Knee," from a Stephen Vincent Benet poem, author Dee Brown presents a history written from original source materials and eyewitness reports.

The heroes are the Indians: Red Cloud and Crazy Horse of the Ogalala Sioux; Sitting Bull of the Teton Sioux; Chief Joseph of the Nez Perce; Black Kettle of the Cheyennes and many others who fought an evil thing that seemed to accompany white men. Red Cloud voiced it for the others when he said, "When the white man comes in my country he leaves a trail of blood behind him."

The white man's reply, Mr. Brown writes, were the words of a Californian Patrick E. Connor "Kill everything! Nits make lice." In one day General Conner slaughtered 278 Indians and dropped their bodies into Idaho's Bear River.

"Bury My Heart at Wounded Knee" is a story that needs to be told. It is hoped that books describing the suffering of the Indians' descendants when their fathers were defeated will soon follow.

FOR READERS who like a good story — who doesn't? "She'll Never Get Off the Ground," by Robert Serling is excellent. It pushes the women's lib movement to the limits of male endurance. Pretty Miss Dudney Devlin, age 25, makes excellent grades in every test for experienced pilots, so the executives of the great Trans-Coastal Airlines are forced to hire her although they wonder how passengers and crew members will react when the captain is a woman. Towards the end of the story they — and the readers find out.

Reviewers find that "She'll Never Get Off the Ground" is a good story by a man who is capable of presenting the inside information about the big spirited airline business.

"Sleep and His Brother" which will be published in March is a mystery novel by Peter Dickinson, a writer of mystery stories, with a sense of moral awareness.

It tells of strange, touching and tragically ill children who are suffering from a fatal disease. Into their lives moves Inspector Pibble, recently retired from Scotland Yard who discovers that he and the children have a sort of telepathic response to each other. Before long, he discovers that there is something sinister beneath the surface of the Foundation that looks after the children. How he isolates the trouble and battles against it makes a prize-winning tale.

FINALLY FROM the What's New Department there comes "President Seven," by John Sommerskill who was president of San Francisco State College for two headline making years — 1966-1968. Although he was well-known for his liberal sympathies and anti-Vietnam convictions, Dr. Sommerskill was caught in a cross-fire between students who — in his view — were bent on dividing the campus on one hand and the Governor and other politicians on the other. Reading the book is a trip into a world of campus sit-ins, riots and suspensions, a world that barely touched many San Franciscans.

Nixon's Revolution Now in First Month

President Nixon's revolution is in its first month. Like most revolutions, it has catalyzed surgents, insurgents, resurgents and subsurgents. The President properly sits above it all, watching the classic upheaval brought about by his innovations.

The dogma of the revolution was first enunciated in the State of the Union speech, and at the heart of that dogma are to be found the President's proposals for revenue sharing and welfare reform.

The revolution proposed by the President will probably come to be. For revenue sharing and welfare reform are practical necessities that present tensions will bring about, one way or another. But the successful fruition of the revolution may be taken from the President unless he struggles mightily in its support.

History has it that the life of a real revolutionary is a hard one. All work, and no final glory is the usual way it works out. Trotsky and Robespierre lost their successful revolutions to others. President Nixon knows that a host of eager followers would like to gain credit for his initiatives.

Transformed into the politics of power, many Republican members of Congress will oppose the President's program and Congressional Democrats will try to make the plan their own. The rumblings from big city mayors make it plain that these men find it impossible to oppose Nixon principles, but that they will do everything possible to blunt his popular thrust. They claim reductions in welfare, health services, redevelopment and assorted other programs are the price for the reforms. Their actions make it clear that they will fault the President in every way, blame him for their troubles, but take the money without thanks when, and if, it comes.

The key to the difference between sniping politics and principle was painfully plain during the nationally televised reply of Senator Mansfield to the State of the Union address. He moved about in his chair; he mumbled; he was conciliatory; he didn't object to the President's plans. In fact, Mansfield complained about being the unfortunate one who had to give the response. For he knew you don't go on national television against cancer cures, parks, welfare reform, executive reorganization and revenue sharing.

But as time passes, a howling and snarling pack will surround the President in a frenzied effort to show him as opposed to cities, large population centers and big States. The President, who can count well, understands that some of these areas must support him in 1972 if he is to enjoy a second term.

Consolidation of Police Services

(This is the fourth in a series of articles dealing with the pros and cons of a police merger and-or consolidation of services. The total responsibility for the thoughts in this series are solely San Bruno police captain William Cann's, and do not necessarily reflect the viewpoint of the San Bruno Police Department.)

TWO VITAL NEEDS of police departments which could be served areawide include crime and modus operandi analysis, the other is assistance on administrative and operational matters which many small agencies lack resources or facilities.

An objection in this regard deals with the inability of an area-wide planner having the intense knowledge of local problems and needs.

EVERY PUBLIC ENTITY undertakes the task of purchasing. Purchasing requires a specific knowledge of products, specifications, negotiating and contracting techniques. A professional purchasing agent with responsibilities for all procurement would be able to obtain goods by lower prices from volume buying, maintain or improve quality of goods through adequate specifications, salvage of obsolete supplies and a redirection of unused goods.

PUBLIC INFORMATION, internal investigation and staff inspection should all be done on a local basis. They should not be divorced from the control of the chief police administrator.

AUXILIARY SERVICES include records and communication, crime laboratory services, and detention. These services are some of the most costly associated with municipal police operations. In depth resources are usually beyond the abilities of most jurisdictions.

Our Viewpoint

Enormously Complex Problems of Peninsula Rapid Transit

As readers who followed The Post's concluding series on rapid transit for the Peninsula have already learned, the whole subject of mass transit for this area has grown enormously complex, confused and contradictory. Contributory to this condition are many diverse factors including vital questions of how such a huge and costly project can be funded, along with the optium area to be served and the division of costs; the most practical routing through what has become an intensely urbanized area; legislative requirements that vitiate local decision; and a piece-meal approach occasioned by the necessity for service to the International Airport.

As if all this were not enough, there appears to be almost universal agreement of expert transit opinion that it is impossible for a commuter transit route to make a profit and that it must be, continuously, a deficit operation requiring subsidy of public monies. Such a prospectus is not calculated to influence taxpayers toward a consenting vote.

Yet, despite the complexities and discouraging outlook, the necessity for rapid transit here is unanimously conceded and generally regarded as inevitable in the future of the Peninsula.

And, as this latest Times' series and the many studies that have preceded it have been forced to conclude, the only viable and feasible solution to the multiple problems involved lies in some form of usage of the existent commuter system operated by the Southern Pacific railroad.

Obviously, the simplest and least expensive form of such usage would be a subsidy of the current operation upgraded by better schedules, lower fares, and a new San Francisco terminus connecting with that city's subway and surface systems and with the Bay Area Rapid Transit District's routings.

The many advantages of this are readily apparent but, unfortunately, the Southern Pacific maintains that this would not be compatible with its freight operations and that it wants no part of any such arrangement. This is somewhat inconsistent with the rail industry's general complaint that its competitors have benefited from public subsidy of aviation, airports, highways and waterways and that financial and regulatory relief should be equalized for the railroads.

Other forms of usage of the S.P. properties could include parallel use of the rights-of-way by a public-owned rapid transit system fully compatible with BART, or by the expansion of BART to cover the Peninsula on the same basis. The Southern Pacific appears to approve this type of alternative, provided it is completely relieved of all responsibility for maintaining a commuter transit operation and is properly reimbursed.

For the immediate future, however, legislative fiat creating the area-wide Metropolitan Transportation Commission, which is charged with reporting a transit masterplan in 1973, precludes local speculation on how to meet the problem. This new commission holds life or death powers over transit planning because no public agency, old or new, will be able to secure state or federal funds without the approval of the commission — and there is little likelihood that any plan could succeed without these funds. Logically, the commission will support its own masterplan whatever it may be.

This adds uncertainty to the difficulties of complexity.

It seems a pity that the assets and the "know-how" of private enterprise, the Southern Pacific in this instance, seemingly cannot be married to an economical method of public support and service that would be to the best interests of both private enterprise and the public.

Oceana Upset Snarls NPL Cage Race

Even with four-fifths of his lineup consisting of underclassmen, it has not been a 'wait-til-next-year's season for Don Novitsky and the Oceana giant-killing Sharks.

When securely nestled in that concave Pacifica gymnasium the Sharks are terrors. They proved that again Thursday upsetting the Westmoor Rams in a frantic finish, 73-71, in a game that threw the Daly City visitors out of sole possession of first-place to a sharing slot with the surging Jefferson Indians.

The North Peninsula League race is now back to a two and possibly three-way chase involving all three of last year's co-defending conference champions. That situation will be altered next Wednesday when Westmoor faces the rugged task of travelling to Jefferson in a battle that could decide the 1970 NPL champion.

Senior guard Glen Brede, with his finest effort of his prep career, was the hero in last week's crowd-pleasing finish. Brede, who scored 21 points, got a three-point play with three seconds left that iced the game for Novitsky's lads.

Up until the final quarter it was a virtual see-saw battle between the two clubs. Then, with junior center Terry Johnson penetrating the Ram zone, a ploy which earned him game honors with 25 points, the Sharks slowly pulled away in that final period. With 2:09 left the Sharks led by six, 69-63. Westmoor started its final move at that point.

Closing the gap to three, 70-67, the Rams appeared edging towards the game-winning lead. Guard Brad Quanstrom hit two free throws to pull Westmoor within one, 70-69. After two turnovers, Westmoor regained possession with 11 seconds left, and Quanstrom hit a clutch eight-footer giving the Rams a 71-70 advantage.

Oceana junior Frank Yates' ensuing desperation shot went wide, but Brede grabbed the rebound, fired up a seven-footer that went through and was fouled in the act. The hysterical crowd went bananas as the clock ran out. But the officials ruled that three seconds remained when the foul was blown so, after Brede sank the free throw, the clock was re-set. Westmoor threw a full-court pass, got off a good shot but it missed.

Westmoor's outside shooting game was not as sharp as it has been as the Rams' high scorer was forward Jeff Orlich who got a majority of his 21 points inside the collapsing Oceana defense.

Westmoor and Jefferson High schools, two of three North Peninsula League defending champions, plus the other third of the defending champs, South San Francisco, took victories in February 9's league action. Westmoor overcame Terra Nova 80-66; Jefferson handled Serramonte, 54-36, and South San Francisco got revenge over Oceana, 85-53. In the only other NPL game, El Camino defeated Half Moon Bay, 82-60.

All games for the three top teams went just about as expected. Westmoor's backcourt duo of Brad Quanstrom and Dave Riley exploded for 45 points between them as the Rams were able to handle the halfcourt Tiger press with virtual ease. Terra Nova, meanwhile, was having all sorts of problems against the full-court Ram press as the Tigers committed five turnovers in the first period that led directly to Westmoor buckets.

The Tigers hit a four-minute cold spell in the second period and Westmoor took advantage in that span to go from a 32-25 lead to a 43-30 halftime bulge. Riley's layin, steal and second layin in six seconds provided the last of the quick lead.

Terra Nova, with guard Bob Petty hitting soft jumpers from 12 feet out, made a brief rally right after intermission and closed the gap to four points, 57-53, as the quarter drew to a close. But Quanstrom's alert passing set up numerous layins for the Ram front line as the Rams pulled away quickly to the 10-point bulge again.

South City, which had lost to Oceana in a first-round game that went a long way towards knocking the Warriors out of the title picture, came back with a vengeance in the 32-point win.

Sportscripts

Might as well face it: Football fans. Baseball season is almost upon us, and with it the plethora of statistics, the seeming lifeblood of the game.

Baseball statistics, you may have noticed, come in waves. During the season there are the daily statistics, the weekly statistics, the monthly statistics, and finally the end of seasonal "unofficial" statistics. And then, as the winter wears on, the final "official" statistics are brought out in dribbles, right through, coincidentally, much of the football season. Afterall, baseball can't always count on Denny McLain to divert ALL of its off-season headlines away from football.

This is one area in PR in which professional football and basketball are still lagging behind baseball. They have yet to take full advantage of their statistical potential. Not only do they announce their "official" statistics too soon (right after the season ends), but they don't have enough of 'em.

It may be, as baseball's critics claim, that The Game is still in the post war era (WW I) as far as flackery in general is concerned, but in the matter of statistics exploitation, baseball is the nonpareil.

Baseball, as is well known and often satirized, has statistics for everyone, everything and every occasion. Baseball is the only game we know of which keeps in detail — or at least publishes — individual defensive statistics. We know that football teams have their own methods for grading their defensive players, but aside from interceptions, the public has no way of knowing, but the numbers, who is doing the defensive job. For example, tackles and tackle assists are rarely published, nor are fumble recoveries.

Football doesn't even cover all the bases (excuse the expression) on offense. The public has no way of knowing, aside from their own observation, for instance, who the good blocking backs are, or how effective offensive linemen are. With all of its computerized machinations, wouldn't it be feasible for football to work out some sort of individual statistics for offensive linemen, showing clean blocks, missed blocks, how many yards runners make running behind them, how often they've allowed quarterbacks to be dumped, etc.?

THERE'S NO REASON why offensive linemen should be less known than, say, good field, no hit shortstops. If baseball kept only the hitting statistics of shortstops, nobody would know most of them. But baseball also records their putouts and assists and participation in doubleplays, and while we know — as we've so often said — that baseball defensive statistics are often misleading and far from comprehensive, they can still offer a better picture of how good a defensive job a second baseman is doing than football can give you an idea of how effective a center is.

Basketball tells you how many points the players score, how many rebounds, assists, their shooting percentages, even how many minutes they play. But the public is not told how many shots the good defensive players block, how many passes they intercept, how many turnovers they cause, how many points, on the average, their opponents score on them, etc.

It is, in fact, much easier to cite what football and basketball statistically doesn't tell its fans about the players, than to remember what baseball tells. Some think baseball tells too much, to the point of boredom. But baseball indisputably tells enough, in its virtual year-round deluge of stats, to keep its fans interested all year, figuring the subtleties, the nuances of the game, continually evaluating and reevaluating their team's future chances with each new fragment of data. Football and basketball give their fans no fodder on which to chew over the off-season. They, in short, give their fans every opportunity to forget their favorite games until the next season begins. Baseball never lets its fans forget it.

AS AN EXAMPLE, we've been mulling over, for at least the past five minutes, the "official" statistic recently released called LOB, or, to the uninitiated, Left on Base. Now, for years we've listened to the experts tell us that the teams who leave runners stranded are losers. And it almost works. Like, the Giants led the majors in men left on base last season, and you know where they finished.

On the other hand, Baltimore led the American League in leaving men stranded, and you know where THEY finished.

And pitiful Kansas City left fewer men on base than any team in the majors. According to some experts, they should have been world champions.

The explanation, of course, is simple. The Giants and the Orioles left so many men on base because they got so many men on base. They were two of the best offensive clubs in the majors, and what the LOB statistic doesn't tell you is how many men teams left on base in proportion to how many they DIDN'T leave on base, but drove home. Or need we remind you that the Giants also led the majors in runs scored.

Kansas City, of course, didn't leave many on because they didn't have many reach the bases so that they could have the opportunity to be left behind.

The same principal applies to team doubleplay totals. Very often the team with the most spectacular DP records are also the teams with bad pitching, ie, they allow more men on base, thus increase the DP chances. And, conversely, many times teams with low scores in the DP standings are teams with crack pitching and flawless defense. They don't allow men on base so, therefore, they can't be doubled up!

THE GIANTS have been stuck with another misconception about their abilities. Just as they don't "choke" nearly as often with men in scoring positions as some think, neither are they nearly as slow on the bases as many accuse them of being. Last year the Giants had the best base stealing percentage in the majors! They were sixth in the NL in total steals (which is pretty good for a power team), but stole at a 75.5 clip, which is excellent in any league. Houston, which finished fifth in SB totals, had the next best percentage (73.6), while the vaunted

Knights Foil Bearcats

By CHRIS STAVE
Post Correspondent

The Bearcats, as Vance Schram wanted very much to pull off an upset at Hillsdale Thursday to hand the Knights their first Mid-Peninsula League defeat.

The Cats worked all week on blunting Hillsdale's best weapons: the full court press and tenth straght without a loss, 73-53.

It took Hillsdale just four minutes to knock the Cats' dreams flat. San Mateo could stop neither the press nir Schram, and the Knights went on to take their

The first quarter started slowly, with neither team scoring in the first two minutes. But for a time it looked as if the Bearcats would indeed be able to find the open man and beat the Knight press.

Twice the teams traded baskets, and then the roof fell in for San Mateo. Harried by the press, as they have been all year, the Cats made seven straight turnovers, only twice managing to get the ball across the time line.

The Knights lost no time capitalizing, taking the San Mateo turnovers and running to a 22-9 first quarter advantage. Schram personally accounted for ten of those points.

High-jumping forward Owen Woods was the only offensive threat San Mateo could muster in the second quarter, and even he didn't get many chances.

The Knights settled down, divided the scoring evenly among themselves and stretched their lead to 39-21 at the half.

San Mateo put together four minutes of good basketball at the start of the third quarter, cutting the 18-point Hillsdale lead in half. But the Cats, playing without substitutions, tired and began to throw the ball away again.

One slip was all the Knights really needed to put it away. It was 58-41 at the end of three. The game had really been over at the end of the first quarter, but Schram, popping in eight more points in the third, added some icing.

Schram does a short victory dance after a particularly exhilarating layin; last night he probably spent more time dancing then playing. He led all scores with 27 before leaving midway in the fourth stanza.

Woods topped the Cats with 18; teammates Hollister Savidge and Matt Love scored 14 and 13 respectively. Sky Webb got 12 for the Knights and John Morton netted 11.

San Mateo, one game out of the MPL cellar now at 2-7, travels to Crestmoor Wednesday afternoon. Hillsdale hosts Mills.

Falcon Coach Protests Loss

Crestmoor High School coach Pete Pontacq is busy scouring through the prep cage rule books today to ascertain whether or not he has a legitimate claim for a protest.

The court battle was ruled a Mexican standoff, but the Falcons did manage to lose the basketball game to Burlingame, 62-50, in a Mid-Peninsula League contest on the loser's hardwoods.

The mass confusion arose in the last 50 seconds of the game when Burlingame's Steve Kircher and Crestmoor's George Ama engaged in fisticuffs which touched off a minor melee among the fans.

When the refs and coaches had finally restored order, both Kircher and Ama were given the heave-ho and each team was awarded two free throws.

"And that is where the controversy came in," stated Pontacq. "I understood that the substitute for the ejected player had to shoot the foul shots, so the man I sent in took ours," he noted. "However," Pontacq pointed out, Burlingame's Scheppler, who was already in the game, was allowed to shoot their free throws, and therein lies the basis of my protest."

It was a real physical game from the outset, with the real story being told at the charity stripe where Burlingame had 46 chances to Crestmoor's 20 attempts.

Both teams played a demanding man-to-man press the entire game, which accounted for the high frequency of fouls and the equally torrid tempers.

"We had the lead in the first quarter, but we played a real sloppy second quarter," admitted Pontacq. "Kircher played real well for them, but the dif-

Basketball Thrives at Vista Mar

With the departure of football season at Vista Mar, came the spontaneous arrival of basketball in the form of hunch games, free throw contest, "around the world," "slams," and "horse," competition.

Saturday, one of the better hunch games between teams led by Chris Lang and Dean Cimino ended with the latter putting on a ten point final spurt to eke out a 51-46 victory.

Lang, high point for the losers scored 22 points, and was helped by Steve Christiansen with his 16 points. The winners were led by Cimino who received clutch baskets by Jim Tapia and Dan Camarato.

Yo Yo season has also begun and a contest will be held on February 19-20. Among the reigstrants are "Babes" Murphy, the Hogan twins, Carrie and Amie, Dean Cimino and many others.

Padres Beaten Again

By PETER BARSOCCHINI

The second seasonal renewal of the somewhat barbaric rite Ignatius Wildcat basketball conknown as the Serra Padre-St. Ignatius Wildcat basketball contest occurred last night in the stuffy confines of the Padre gymnasium.

Amid cheers of "we want Wildcat meat" and "pound the Padres" the intense rivals battled fiercely with SI emerging victorious, 66-56, as Serra was foiled in the fourth period due to a spate of untimely fouls on its part.

A gentlemen's game it was not.

The Padres gave early indications of effectiveness aimed at netting them their second West Catholic Athletic League victory as the Serrans put forth a fine first quarter effort. The Pads were full-court pressing the Cats, causing four turnovers on SI's part during the stanza, and presenting a better-than-usual offensive attack. They led by four points going into the second quarter.

St. Ignatius' Mark Terry had picked up three fouls early in the game and was benched for much of the initial period, but he came on in the last stanza to explode for 14 points and pushed his team to a seven point halftime advantage, 35-28.

Serra came back aggressively in the third quarter, led by Chris Hanson and Rich O'Reagan who together tallied all of the Pads' 16 points for the period. The Padres also played their finest offensive quarter at this juncture holding the Wildcats to only 13 points.

The final quarter was an apt microcosm of the problems which have been plaguing the Padres all season. They hustled well and displayed a good defense but the Serrans failed to generate a consistent offensive effort and picked up a good many fouls in reaching and rebounding situations.

SI out-scored the hosts by seven points in the quarter and took home the victory.

Serra dropped to a 1-10 league mark with the loss.

The Cats' Mark Terry led all shooters with 26 points, followed by Serra's Chris Hanson and Rich O'Reagan who had 19 and 18 tallies respectively.

On a brighter vein for Serra, the Padre Junior Varsity, coached by Nick Carboni, handily thrashed their SI opponents 69-48. (Later Story, Page 19)

Corburrabrazo Leads Athletes

Danny Corburrabrazo scored 28 points, outscoring the letters in his last name, to lead the Athletes to a 41-35 trimming of the Liquor Land losers. Dean Prince notched 22 points for the Liquor Land trio.

The Netters continued their winning ways as they defeated the Cavaliers 41-27. Roy Reitz and Jim Cannon paced the Netters attack scoring 14 and 12 points respectively. Sid Buchanan tallied 10 points for the losers.

Mike Parodi hit the hoop for 20 points in leading the Pedroni A.C. trio to a 44-40 overtime win against the Pomona Casuals. Jim Levesque scored 20 points for the Casuals.

Warriors, Jeff Get an Assist

By JERRY LITTRELL
Post Correspondent

Jefferson and South San Francisco High Schools had both been waiting for the miracle finish to happen and, thanks to the Oceana Snarks, that wish became a reality Thursday.

Both the Indians and the Warriors won last night and coupled with the Westmoor loss, the North Peninsula League now is as jumbled as it ever was in this weird 1971 season. Jefferson downed Terra Nova, 66-62, while South City upended game El Camino, 63-50. Half Moon Bay got off its 10-game losing streak with an 82-63 win over Serramonte.

For Jefferson it was the long and short of it that provided the poised junior with cat-like instincts inside the lane, and tiny heroics. Tall Kenny Smith, a guard Joe Randolph, a ball-hawker who seldom shoots but is invaluable in the Indian offense, led the Jeff quintet to a victory that wasn't really quite as close as the final score.

Smith, getting another 31-point night, nullified the tall Tiger front line with soaring shot blocking and he also controlled the offensive boards for the Indians. Twice in the final period the Indians built up 13-point leads as the Tigers were cold throughout the entire second half.

The ability to make the percentage shots — layins and free throws — carried the South City Warriors to their win over Camino. Conversely, had the Colts been able to do the same (they missed 16 charity shots and numerous inside layins) the outcome may have been different. Camino played an excellent defensive game against the potent Warrior running attack, a far cry from the teams' first meeting last month when Camino completely ran out of gas in the second half.

Mike Young's steadying influence on the on-again, off-again Warrior attack and the gym-rat ball-handling of lefty guard Gene Mackey again were SSF's saving graces. Camino didn't score for the first four minutes of the second quarter as SSF built up a 14-point lead. Twice within the third quarter, though, EC clawed back and trailed by just two — once on Tom Jones' two consecutive layins and once more on Steve Umland's short jumper.

Twenty-one players, 10 from Oceana and 11 more from South City, scored in the sub-filled contest. The Warrior press, ineffectual the first time around against the Sharks, rattled the visitors to several turnovers in a wild second period.

Camino got back on the winning way that night over the Cougars. The Colts, who won their first three league games then lost five of their next six, got a surprising scoring performance from sub forward Mark Spivey with 22 points. The Colts broke through the Cougar press in a 25-point second period that iced the game.

Jefferson methodically lambasted the Regents as subs occupied time and space for both sides. Ray Viado and Kenny Smith each had 12 for the winners.

CSM Baseballers in Two Tourneys

Golden Gate Conference baseball play will start from the two-time champion College of San Mateo Bulldogs March 9, but two tournaments come first.

The Bulldogs will enter the Fresno City College Tournament February 19-20 and the Santa Rosa JC tourney February 26-27 before meeting City College of San Francisco in league play.

The Bulldogs have a nucleus of five lettermen returning in the field, but the question mark is an all-freshman pitching staff.

Coach John Noce is faced with the task of replacing GGC co-pitchers of the year Barry Sbragia and Barry Woodruff. "We're in the same boat as we were two years ago when we had unknown frosh pitchers." Noce points out. "All of our current pitchers show good potential off their high school records." In 1969 freshman Sbragia came on to go unbeaten in leading the Bulldogs to the state finals.

The new CSM mound staff will feature Larry Hartmann, who led Aragon to the Mid-Peninsula League title; All-MPL Joe Serena from San Mateo High; All-State (Joe DiMaggio Tournament) Jim Emery (Half Moon Bay), and Greg Pearl (Burlingame). Kevin Collins, a sophomore in his first year of college baseball, is a fifth pitching candidate and was MVP on Aragon's 1969 team when he t... was second team All-MPL. Hartmann was drafted by the Orioles last month.

Noce has an all-veteran outfield quartet led by All-GGC 1st team rightfielder Lou Lodigiani (South San Francisco) and All-GGC 2nd team Skip Conley (Burlingame) in center. Dave Faguchi a San Bruno resident from Serra High, saw action as a utility outfielder last season, while Woodside resident Chris Cotton (from Lancaster) saw spot duty. They're currently battling for the left field spot.

Bissett, the Yankees' number one pick in last month's major league draft, leads the CSM infield at shortstop. Pat Woodward (Terra Nova) may be back at his old second base spot if he recovers from tendonitis in his shoulders. Another Terra Nova grad, frosh Tim Lutz, is currently playing second. Bissett, a San Mateo High grad, is the nephew of former long-time CSM coach Lee Bissett.

Top third base candidate is Tom Buckley, who led the North Peninsula League in hitting last year at El Camino High. He's receiving competition from two-time All-MPT first team choice Bob King from Hillsdale.

Graduate Bob Berg's first base spot is up for grabs among Norm Freschet, All-MPL at Aragon; Vic Prieto (San Mateo), brother of former CSM star

Mustangs Survive Flu and Falcons

ference was that they outscored us at the free throw line, 32-12," the young coach added.

Capuchino's outstanding forward Steve Newberry was home with the flu while his fellow Mustangs were doing battle with the Crestmoor Falcons, but his presence, or lack of the same, was felt February 9.

It took the Mustangs the entire first two periods to adjust to playing without Newberry; he is their top offensive threat and the team leader. But the Mustangs managed to adjust to the situation by the time the third period began and held on to a big fourth quarter lead to stop the charging Falcons, 74-70, in the Cap gymnasium.

"We were tight and playing pretty sloppy basketball early. It took us a while to get used to playing without Newberry," commented Cap's coach Jimmy Johnson following the game. "We loosened up in the second half and Keith Hernandez gave us a big lift on offense," he added.

The Falcons took an eight-point first quarter lead as they ran a well-executed shuffle offense and broke Capuchino's press adeptly.

But Crestmoor put the Mustangs on the free throw line 16 times in the second period to undo the good they accomplished in the opening stanza. Cap led 32-26 at the half.

The third period was essentially a shooting exhibition by Cap guard Keith Hernandez. He hit eight field goals in the stanza on long distance jumpers and driving layups. The addition of two free throws gave him 18 points for the quarter.

Crestmoor made a run at Cap's 17-point lead by full-court pressing the 'Tangs and running with the ball on every possible occasion. Jim Cox, Mark Spacher, and Bruce Patterson put on an admirable offensive barrage in the period, but it came a bit late.

Hernandez led all scorers with 29 points, followed by Spacher with 24 tallies. Crestmoor's George Ama contributed 17 points.

Girls Win

A much-heralded group of "new breed" Russian athletes found out Saturday night that they'll have quite a task on their hands this summer when they return to the United States for their annual dual track meet with the U.S.—probably at Stanford.

But a less-heralded contingent from the Millbrae Lions left little to be desired in dominating the women's portion of the fifth annual Athens Invitational indoor meet at the Oakland Coliseum Arena.

Oregon's Steve Prefontaine set a world record pace with a 4:11 first mile of the two-mile and lapped the field with his finishing sprint for an 8:34.4 victory. Although missing the world mark by seven seconds, he was named track athlete of the meet after gaining revenge over Soviet star Rashid Sharafetdinov for a defeat in Russia last summer.

Sharafetdinov settled for third in 8:57.6 as Stanford's Don Kardong sprinted past him at the finish. Fourth place Arvid Kretz of Stanford (and formerly of Mills High) ran second for most of the race.

Millbrae Lions took victories in four of the six women's events and Ravenswood stole a thrilling 3:33.1 victory in the high school mile relay.

Joe Punce, Darryl Augmen, and Anthony Fitzbaugh held second for the first three legs of the latter event. Then James Shirley put on a great kick on the last lap to edge Kennedy anchorman Manuel Evans by a tenth of a second at the tape.

Millbrae won both women's relays and got individual wins from Marilyn King in the long jump (19-2½) and Ann Christoff in the 60 (7.0). And they just missed a fifth first in the high jump as Barbara Pickel cleared 5-10, same as winner Cathy Law of Lassen Cinderellas, but placed second on more misses.

Miss King tied for fourth, two inches lower, and also ran the second leg on the sprint medley relay team, anchored to a 2:26.1 victory by Cis Schafer.

Only women's event Millbrae didn't seriously threaten was the 600 were Sacramento's Kathy Hammond missed the world record by one tenth of a second with her 1:22.3 sprint, soundly defeating Russia's Nadejda Kolesnikova. Miss Schafer ran a creditable 1:25.7 for fourth, only 1.5 seconds behind the Russian.

Valerie Larsen and Cheryl Greggins sprinted to the lead in the girl's age group relay and the Lions never trailed through successive legs by Pat Blencoe, Monica Scanlan, Glenna Pickel, and Libby Feix for a 2:06.6 victory—three seconds in front of Orinda Track Club.

College of San Mateo, expected to challenge in the junior college mile relay, settled for fifth in 3:29.5 as star runner Dave Robertson didn't compete for personal reasons. American River took the race in 3:25.3.

Only USSR victory on the track came in the mile where Mikhail Zheloboyskiy spoiled Chuck LaBenz' try for a difficult double. Both men clocked 4:08.8 in a photo finish.

A half hour earlier LaBenz took a 2:10.3 win over Byron Dyce in the 1000 race which found 1970's top ranked 800 meter runner Eugene Arzanhov of Russia only third in 2:11.7.

Russia did get one field event victory, in the triple jump from world record holder Victor Saneyev, who was voted outstanding field athlete after his 51-1½ leap.

Peninsulan Entrant in '71 Gloves

They're calling Rocco Stagnaro, a 19-year-old Italian fighter from San Bruno, another Rocky Graziano. He's rugged, rough and tough, assets Graziano was noted for when he was world middleweight champion.

Stagnaro has entered the light heavyweight class in the Golden Gloves, which will be held Feb. 23, 26 in Civic Auditorium.

His mentor, Bob Waldsmith, told tournament director Al Sandell that Stagnaro will fight in the senior division. The fact that Rocco has engaged in but one tournament fight doesn't seem to matter. "We can whip anyone they have at 175 pounds," said Waldsmith, who came out of Pittsburgh, the city that produced champions in Harry Greb, Fritzie Zivic and Billy Conn.

In an Oakland show last year, Stagnaro's fight with Alvero Lopez was called the night's best scrap.

Those who have watched Stagnaro in gym drills credit him with being a two-fisted, aggressive slugger who never takes a backward step. "The guy that beats him will have to be real good," said veteran fight manager Joe Herman.

Tickets may be obtained at 860 Howard, all Bay Area Macy's, Greyhound, Roos-Atkins and Downtown Center Box Office.

Sportscripts

Dodgers, who swiped 138 bases, were only fourth in the NL in stealing percentage at 70.8.

So accuse the Giants of being careless, or maybe a little bit slow upstairs on the bases, but don't accuse them of being slow downstairs, on their feet.

SAN FRANCISCO led the majors in several unusual categories last season. They also led in intentional walks and batters hit by pitcher. Of course, those team titles can be laid at the feet of two individuals: Willie McCovey and Ron Hunt.

While the Giants can be figured on retaining the former title, this coming season, you can be sure that they'll relinquish the latter title, probably to Montreal, the team to which Hunt was traded.

DICK DIETZ may have led in more statistical categories than anyone. Unfortunately, they were all negative statistics. He led the majors in passed balls with 25. That was 10 more than his closest NL rival, rookie St. Louis catcher Ted Simmons, and more than twice as many as the leader in the American League. Only Montreal's John Bateman made more errors than Dietz, edging him 15-14. Ed Kirkpatrick of KC was the AL leader with 12. Needless to say, Dietz easily outdistanced anyone with combined miscues — passed balls and errors.

WHILE ALL OF THE ORDINARY, every-day fans were engrossed in the American League batting title chase between Alex Johnson and Carl Yastrzemski last year, the REAL buffs were watching the National League team batting race, which was probably the closest four-way batting race of any kind, team or individual, in baseball history. Here's how they finished: Cincinnati, .2703; Los Angeles, .2702; Pittsburgh, .2700; Atlanta, .2695.

A Fitting Pad Finish

By PETER BARSOCCHINI

Although the Serra Padres won only two of their 12 West Catholic Athletic League games, it was fitting indeed that they close their season with a victory.

And they did that Saturday night, 76-72, on their home court against the Riordan Crusaders of San Francisco.

A victory befit the occasion because the Pads took the court with a lineup of seniors who would be playing their last contest for Serra, and throughout the season they have been a particularly noteworthy group of players.

"They are a remarkable group of athletes," Serra coach Frank Nolan has said, "because we've been losing and yet they've come out for each game and given a 100 per-cent effort. That's a rare quality."

The quality of which Nolan speaks is exemplified most succinctly in senior forward Rich O'Reagan who scored 15 points against Riordan on Saturday and has been the Padres' most consistently good performer all season.

"I've seen Rich play at Serra for four years," Nolan remarked a few days ago," and have yet to see him give less than a maximum effort when he has played in a game."

Serra beat Riordan in the first round of WCAL play by one point, 51-50, and Saturday's meeting was nearly as close.

The Pads won the game on the free throw line where they hit 40 of their remarkable total of 51 tries. The Crusaders were 24 for 39 from the line.

O'Reagan fouled out midway in the final period and that could have cost Serra the contest had not they got a big lift from reserve forward Joe Daly who came on in the final minutes to score six points and give a fine defensive effort.

Serra's Vince O'Leary hit four clutch free throws in the final two minutes to sure up the win.

Nick Carboni's Junior Varsity squad edged the Crusaders, 51-50, in their final game of the season.

2 Tourneys for CSM's Baseballers

Mike; and Darryl Lauer (El Camino). Freschet may also do some pitching.

"We have four outstanding catchers too this year Noce notes." Last year's number two receiver Chuck Smookler (Oceana) returns and is complemented by freshman Tom Batter (Burlingame), Mike Rawlings (Terra Nova), and Scott Morrison (San Mateo). Batter, was All-MPL in 1968.

Other new prospects include first baseman Steve Morger (Carlmont), infielder Pedro Fernandez (Sequoia), and outfielders Peter Kaine (Hillsdale) and Russ Hamoton (Riordan). Hampton, a Millbrae resident, attended St. Mary's College last year, while the other three are freshmen.

Noce's overall assessment of his 1971 squad is "very solid defensively, pretty good power, and some speed; we'll show the ability to get runs."

Yacht Club Picks Slate

Installed as the 1971 Commodore was Douglas Bishop, owner of the Why Knot. Bishop took over the helm from 1970 Commodore Steve Metcalf.

Guest of honor was Acting South San Francisco City Manager Larry Ross.

The new officers for 1971 are Vice-Commodore Loren Wedel; Rear Commodore Herb Goldberg; Board of Directors, Peter Leaf, Hank Soldavini, Marie Cleasby and Lou Kindella.

Crestmoor Mat Champ

By CHRIS STAVE

In one six-minute match a high school wrestler places as much demand on his body as if he had played sixty minutes of football.

And some of the wrestlers who earned Crestmoor its fourth Mid-Peninsula League championship in five years last week in the C.S.M. gym had been through three matches in a single day.

Crestmoor, which had finished the dual-meet season undefeated and tied with San Mateo was unsure of success in last night's finals — the Falcons were thought to be better at dual meets than tournaments.

But when the first-place bracket rolled around, not only was Crestmoor leading, but the Falcons had also placed seven grapplers in championship matches, more than any other team. It would have taken a miracle to unseat them, and the miracle didn't happen.

In a mild surprise, Capuchino placed six wrestlers in the championship bracket to San Mateo's four, and edged the Bearcats for second spot by four points.

Crestmoor scored 106, Cap 75, San Mateo 71, Burlingame 45, Mills 43, Aragon 41, and Hillsdale 21.

San Mateo's Mike Harney started things off in the 98-pound weight class, taking Cap's Rich Wynne by a decision to remain undefeated in league competition.

Crestmoor's Bob Littlefield got the first pin of the evening in the 115s, rolling Hillsdale's Mike Martin-Vegue and holding him with 0:45 left in the third and last round of what had been a seeesaw match.

But it was the 148s match that brought the crowd to its feet. It matched Hillsdale's Kevin Morford, who had been an All-MPL linebacker in football, with one of the best grapplers on the strong Crestmoor squad, Mike Mullady.

Morford, with his incredible strength, never gave Mullady a chance, outscoring him 8-2 in a frantically paced opening round, 5-1 in the second, and 2-0 in the third after the pace had tired them both.

Morford also came up with the prettiest move of the night. Both wrestlers were on their feet. Morford feinted, pulled Mullady in, then dived and lifted him sideways in a cross-ankle pickup before taking him down.

Aragon's Jeff Schaub gave Burlingame's Gary Goodrich a scare in the 157s. Schaub, a textbook wrestler, doesn't make mistakes. Goodrich sometimes does, being more used to free-style wrestling than the collegiate style used in high school competition.

The first two rounds were scoreless. Then, at the beginning of the third round, Goodrich scored two points by reversing positions with Schaub and held on for a 2-1 decision.

The last three matches were quick and decisive. In the 178s, Cap's Paul Accinelli got a pin with 0:22 left in the first round.

Dale Curry made even quicker work of his 194-class match, making a quick duck-under move and pinning his man with 0:43 left in the first round. Curry, Harney and 130-pound man Charles Simon all finished the league undefeated for San Mateo.

And, in the unlimited class, Capuchino's John Copello scored a quick pin to push the Mustangs ahead of San Mateo in the final standings.

The top wrestlers in each class will represent the MPL at a sectional meet at Harbor High School in Santa Cruz next week-end.

Cyclist Killed

A San Francisco fireman died in Daly City Sunday, seven hours after his motorcycle spun out of control and his unhelmeted head struck the pavement of Northridge Court.

Daly City police said the victim, William Smith, 49, of 55 Eaton Street, Daly City, was northbound on Northridge at 4:38 p.m. when the bike apparently spun out on some loose dirt.

He was taken to Mary's Help Hospital, where he died at 11:30 p.m., police said.

Another San Francisco man was injured when his motorcycle struck a curb on a Daly City street early today.

David Gleason, 22, 1735 Thirtieth Avenue, suffered head injuries when he was thrown from the cycle, at Forest Grove and South Mayfair Streets, Daly City, at 4 a.m., Daly City Police said.

A spokesman at Mary's Help Hospital said Gleason was in guarded condition in its intensive care unit.

A police spokesman said that he believed Gleason failed to see the curb before hitting it.

Pacifica Woman Is Robbed

A Pacifica woman, enroute to a bank to deposit dime store receipts, was robbed Sunday by a man who said he had a gun.

Pacifica police said Karen A. Morganti was nearly to the Bank of America branch at Manor Plaza, near West Manor Drive, at 5:35 p.m., when the bandit demanded a bagful of money from the Glen Five and Ten.

The suspect was described by the victim as in his twenties, 5-foot, 8-inches tall, 150-160 pounds, with brown hair and wearing a gold and brown wool [illegible] jacket.

[illegible] said the man suddenly walked up beside her, directed her to keep walking and told her, "Give me the money. I have a gun."

Police said the bag contained $340.

A tall, polite robber, his face masked with a purple scarf, took $20 in pennies at gunpoint from the Taco Bell restaurant in San Bruno last night, police said.

Two attendants, Glynn Boatwright, 17, and Lee Fowler, 18, both of South San Francisco, told San Bruno police the suspect entered the rear door, flashed a .38 caliber revolver and went to the cash register near the front of the building.

Finding nothing there, he went directly to a floor safe, where he found the pennies.

The suspect described as 6-feet-2-inches tall, weighing 170 pounds and sporting a mustache then told the two victims to get inside a meat cooler.

"Thank you, gentlemen," the robber said as he departed.

Post Deadline

News items intended for publication in the North County Post should be taken or mailed to 30 Park Plaza Drive, Daly City (94015), by 5 p.m. each Thursday.

SSF Police Car Running on Propane in Experiment

By BOB PETERSON

South San Francisco police have joined the ranks of the ecology minded.

The department Thursday unveiled a patrol car powered by propane. On the rear of the vehicle a sticker reads: "Propane Powered (and under this) Pollution Solution."

Actually, the converted gasoline-burning engine has been in the works for some time.

Police Capt. August Terragno explained the experimental car was first conceived when he was acting as chief of police, shortly after former Chief John Fabbri resigned.

At that time also, Tom McKenzie was the city manaper.

Captain Terragno and the city's maintenance superintendent Andrew Rodondi approached McKenzie on the possibility of pursuing such a proposal.

McKenzie gave the go-ahead and Captain Terragno and Rodondi collaborated with the Pargas propane people in Brisbane. "Andy (Rodondi) and I work very close," said Captain Terragno. "We try to improve things."

The captain firmly believes this car is improved. It's definitel changed.

In the trunk, mounted against the back seat, is an oblong tank with a 37-gallon capacity. The tank is filled through the same goose-neck opening that is used on standard cars. Refueling stations are limited to one on South Airport Boulevard in South San Francisco and one in Brisbane.

The only change under the hood was to install a different carburetor, and place a small mechanism against the fender wall. This piece of equipment, according to the captain, pushes the vapor through the carburetor by using a hookup to the radiator. The conventional smog control device also is removed.

"I'm really sold on it," said Captain Terragno. "There's no more choke. In the morning you just start it up and drive off. No coughing," said the captain, explaining the car's pickup ability.

The car has approximately 200 miles on it. According to Acting City Manager Larry Ross, city cars presently are used for 18 months, or until they rack up 65,000 miles. They are then traded.

He said this converted model is expected to give double that service before trade-in is necessary.

City cars presently get on an average of eight to nine miles to a gallon.

Cost of the conversion, according to the captain is approximately $500. Ross said this conversion has been done free for the city on an experimental basis.

The vehicle will be used regularly as a patrol car, with different officers driving it.

If it proves successful, the possibility of converting the entire city fleet is very real. The experimental car is believed to be the only such model being used by any Bay Area police department.

Ansara's 'Food Word' Always 'Best For Less'

Ansara's popular Redwood City restaurant, located in the Dennis Nelson Center, has been a "food winner" with it's Shish Kabob Flambe and Top Sirloin Steak Dinners. This great "table double" tabs out for just $2.95 (your choice) and includes soup or salad, baked potato, assorted breads, Berry Cobbler dessert and Mocha-Java coffee. Luncheon suggestion: one of the house specialties is the French Dip Beef Sandwich, Au Jus served in a dunking cup, with French fries. "Best for less" has always been Ansara's "food word." . . . One very important thing to remember: Foster's Farm-Fried Chicken House serves breakfast all day and evening. Open from 7 a.m. seven days a week, Foster's is also a cheerful, handy-to-Hillsdale-Mall-shopping restaurant for luncheon, dinner and take-out orders. And you can ask any number of Senior Citizens about the gustful menu planned especially for their Monday through Friday selection . . . Lucien Sabella, the A. Sabella's restaurant Midas of Fisherman's Wharf, is not only an expert in the food line, but could make a very comfortable living following the pro-golf circuit (his game is in the low 70's).

DINE SUMPTUOUSLY by candlelight and enjoy cocktails in the romantic, carpeted Stagecoach Room. Usually expensive-looking, lavishly-furnished restaurants have stiff menu prices, but many people have discovered that Stickney's in San Mateo, occupying the Fifth Avenue Office Building, is a happy exception. If you like luxury, but are on a budget, try Stickney's.

Venetian Room Features Talented Mel Torme

Multi-talented Mel Torme, singer, composer, arranger and musician, is delighting audiences in the Fairmont's Venetian Room with current song hits, nostalgic favorites of the past, a bit of comic material, and a display of musicianship of his own arrangements. Torme handles each song with care — his lyrics are coddled, caressed, but never cajoled. You can see and hear this fantastic entertainer through March 3 . . . Senor Nick Gust has extended his "2 for the price of 1" Mexican Combination Dinner coupon offer at his Papagayo Room. Which means, if you clip out the coupon appearing in his advertisement in Bright Lights and present it to the waitress, you will be entitled to the "Two for One" dinner special, through Sunday, February 28. This package has brought many new faces to the colorful Rockaway Beach restaurant, and has stimulated the appetites of diners as well as business in Pacifica "by the sea" . . . The Ranch Inn's Sunday Champagne Breakfast (served 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.) is drawing big crowds. Sunday, February 7, was the kick-off for this event, which offers such delicacies as Sauteed Chicken Livers, Lox and Cream Cheese, Chicken Wings, and oh so many other taste tempters. The dinner menu is available every day at any time.

Mel Torme

Here's good news for gourmets on a budget: Complete dinners at Lew Lehr's Steak House, in San Francisco's Marina district, are still priced as low as $5. Included are a delicious relish platter, luscious salad with choice of dressing, stuffed baked potato, French fried onion rings, and beverage . . . The lively Jimmy Vann Trio has returned to Hyatt House Burlingame, where they provide the nightly dance sounds in Hugo's Bistro. Scheduled for a three-month stint, this is the same trio that drew record crowds to the Los Angeles Wilshire Hyatt. . . . Monday night dining at Yolanda's Terminal Cafe is an ideal situation for couples with large families. Children (under 12) dine absolutely free when with their parents. This idea was originated a few weeks ago by Manager John Hutchinson, who wanted to stress the fact that Yolanda's likes to serve families, regardless of the size. . . . Bruno's in the Mission plans everything well in advance. When BART trains starts tunnelling through the Mission District, Bruno's is planning a welcome party to end all parties. As Chef John says, "Bring the gang, plenty of pasta for everybody. Nothing too good for BART customers." . . . Patrons rave: Nobody, but nobody can mix up a Harvey Wallbanger as smoothly as Gordy Riddaugh's of Stuart Anderson's Black Angus Steak House in San Mateo.

Take-Out Service Also Specialty At Romano's

Enrico Romano, owner of Romano's Italian restaurant in Pacifica's picturesque Rockaway Beach, wants to remind you that he has a pizza "take-out" service. Just call ahead, place your order, and within a half hour your pizza will be waiting for you, piping hot. Seldom does the waiting period go over that, but Enrico asks that you bear with him should it slip into extra minutes, as the orders have been coming in so fast and furious. . . . Joe and Lou Ercoli, owners of the Leaning Tower, South San Francisco, are again busy with plans for remodeling their busy restaurant. The next project in mind is the sprucing up of the "Tower's" Linden Avenue frontage . . . James Dubin, president of Mexico's big Consejeros de Viajes Travel Agency, hosted a dinner meeting in the luxurious Wellington Room of Phil Lehr's Steakery in downtown San Francisco, for local travel bigwigs. Among those present: E. D. Hensley, C.T.C., president of Pacific International Tours, Inc. . . . Paolo Bermani, the master chef at Doros in San Francisco, is the proud possessor of a 16-inch high gold statue that he won at the Senior Culinary Exhibits recently held in San Francisco.

Family Day A 'Winner' For The Whistle Stop

Sunday was the first "Family Day" at the Whistle Stop in Belmont, and owner Leo Martay was very pleased with the turn-out of families, who discovered that dining out need not be expensive. Family Specials range from a 99-cent breakfast to a 59-cent lunch and $2.39 dinner. If you enjoy cottage-fried potatoes with your breakfast (your Bright Lighter mixes them with eggs "over easy"), then you're going to smack your lips when you feast your eyes on Leo's breakfasts. In the adjacent Family Recipe Chicken Take-Out, a complete chicken dinner for only $1.39 is featured. Child's plate is 69 cents. There's ample parking, too . . . Newest addition to the menu at Hillsdale's Steak Inn is a Combination Steak and Lobster Dinner low-tabbed at $3.49. That's right, $3.49 — and it's served every day of the week. Also available at the Steak Inn is a choice of several steaks, each reasonably priced . . . Who was that well-known radio disc jockey who was having a grand meal at the Greek Taverna in North Beach the other evening? We won't mention any names, but he was really having a ball.

Leo Martay

Nunzio Alioto Takes Over Restaurant Management

Message from Frank Alioto: "Nunzio Alioto, my son, is taking over management of Alioto's restaurant. He is the fourth generation of our family to operate Alioto's at No. 8 Fisherman's Wharf. As my mother brought my late brother Mario and me into the business when we were young, now I, too, watch the family culinary expertise continued. Nunzio has compiled a new menu for Alioto's. To our long-favored bill-of-fare his own specialties have been added to delight the palate. Among them are fish plates of low cholesterol count. Head chef Renato Tasdra remains at his post to ensure a smooth transition. I am proud to have our family restaurant in the capable hands of my son. I am confident he will bring you continued dining pleasure." . . . Ever hear of sixty per cent of the diners entering through the rear entrance? That's what happens at Bruno's in the Mission. A big, handy parking lot makes it possible to take just one step. From your car to the swinging doors and the action-packed dining room.

Frank Alioto

Vivacious Vicki Farrell presides at the pianobar, Tuesday through Saturday, at The Golden Steer, Redwood City. Vicki entertains and leads the rousing sing-alongs from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. each evening . . . Make Scotty Campbell's one of your Sunday night dinner stops. This seems to be "family night" at this prestige Redwood City restaurant, which is family owned and operated. A friendly fireplace blazing away in the main dining room lends to the homey atmosphere . . . Dinner tip: Old-fashioned Lancashire Beefe and fresh Mushroom Stew, served in the Black Kettle at Atherton's Lord Fletcher Inn. Prepared with the finest prime rib beef, diced and simmered in country-style vegetables, this English favorite is just one of several palate delights on the dinner menu. Try the special salad, which is mixed at your table with Palace dressing . . . Have often mentioned the variety menu and take-out section of Vince's Italian and Seafood restaurant, but it's high time to suggest you visit their ultra-modern cocktail lounge, where hors d'oeuvres are served from 5:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. nightly. A great place to unwind after a long day at the office. . . .

Skyline Quint Routs Solano; DeAnza Next

One of Skyline College coach Walt Rilliet's paramount goals this season is to beat Camino Norte Conference leader DeAnza College.

And the Trojans get their final chance to accomplish that feat Wednesday night when they host DeAna in an 8 o'clock contest in the Skyline gym.

The San Bruno team evened up its league record at 5-5 Saturday night with an easy 67-49 triumph over visiting Solano College.

"It was an especially rewarding win in that we reversed an earlier upset loss at the hands of Solano," Rilliet noted. "We didn't overlook them this time," he added.

On the contrary, when the Skyline crew reached the second half, the same juncture where they did their flop last time, they just lengthened on their Vallejo foe.

Up seven points at halftime, 29-22, the Trojans, behind the shooting of Ken Young, came out strong at the outset of the second stanza.

And at one juncture, with Skyline leading, 41-34, the locals clamped down on Solano and held them scoreless an astounding 6:08 while building up a 61-34 advantage.

Rilliet credited the rebounding of Kirby and Paul Reynolds, in addition to the shooting of Mike Larios. The latter paced the Trojans with 12 points.

Pacifica Boy Is Wounded

A 10-year-old Pacifica boy is reported in satisfactory condition in Mary's Help Hospital, Daly City, after being shot in the side accidentally by his 14-year-old brother.

Police said Anthony Gunthner was shot on Friday morning when his brother Robert, who thought the .22-caliber rifle was on safety, turned around and the weapon fired. The bullet went through the left abdomen and out the lower back, police said.

According to police, the boys, and a third brother, Edward, 11, were sitting on the porch of their home at 160 Amapola.

Police said the boys, who frequently had been taking the gun out, were preparing to hunt birds.

Pot Arrest for Man, 19

A South San Francisco shoe store manager on Friday was arrested on charges of possession of marijuana for sale.

Police booked Raymond Martinez, 19, of San Rafael, after narcotics officers made a purchase of a plastic bag of marijuana.

According to police, two additional bags of marijuana were taken from the store at 381 Grand Avenue, as well as a large quantity from Martinez' home in San Rafael.

BETTER BUSINESS

By LORENE BEASLEY
Better Business Bureau

The average consumer knows as much about wigs as he does about diamonds.

For this reason consumers — whether rich or poor, smart or stupid — are equally gullible when it comes to buying a hairpiece. Very little information is available on "wiggery" in spite of the multi-million dollar sales. Advertisements carry the terms "machine-made stretch," "hand-tied stretch," "mini-fall," "modacrylic fibre" etc., but what do such descriptions mean?

The customer is informed that wigs and hairpieces are made of human hair, synthetic hair and from animal hair. The best sources of human hair are said to be from Sicily, southern Italy, Spain, Indonesia, Korea and Red China.

However, the term "European texture" used to describe Oriental hair would be inaccurate in that Italian and Most European hair, after processing, still maintains a finer texture than Indian or Oriental hair.

Adding to the customer's shopping technicalities are the synthetic fiber hairpieces made of Dynel, Nylon, Acetate and Kanekalon. The latter is a Japanese-made product which, when processed, closely follows the pattern of human hair.

The real test of a good hairpiece is in the fitting but mail order promoters carry on a thriving business of cheap, badly made scraps of hair which bear no resemblance to the advertised article.

The [illegible] of wigs has become a lucrative field for the "sharpies" who are giving governmental agencies no end of difficulties. The Federal Trade Commission's guides for advertising and selling wigs went into effect November 9, 1970 but, in response to industry requests, the effective date was extended to February 8.

Following are some of the highlights:

The exact percentage of human, synthetic and animal hair in each wig must be given.

The origin of the hair, such as European, Asian or Oriental, must be stated, with the percentages of each kind if more than one area is the source.

Flammable wigs may not be manufactured or sold in the United States.

Wigs previously worn by a consumer and then returned may not be offered for resale unless prior use is clearly and conspiciously labeled. This also applies to the hair or other components if subjected to prior use in another industry.

"Handmade" must mean that the entire process of joining and stitching the hair to the foundation is performed by hand.

To be "custom-made," "customized," or "personalized," a wig must have been (a) designed to meet the actual personal measurements of the prospective customer) (b) dyed or made of a mixture of pre-colored hair matching the personal requirements of the purchaser.

"Customer," "exact," or "personalized" color may not be claimed for a wig unless it has been dyed or the hair pre-colored according to the personal requirements of the prospective customer.

The hair in a wig may not be called "virgin" hair unless it is human hair that has never been dyed, bleached or permanented.

Advertising claims, pictures or sketches may not give prospective purchasers the impression that a wig has been styled or is capable of being styled unless such is the case.

JC Reward Fund Sought

Students interested in passage of a March 2 tax override for the San Mateo Junior College District have announced they are seeking a fund to use as a reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of anyone disrupting their campuses.

Speaking at the meeting of the district's Board of Trustees on Wednesday night at the College of San Mateo, the students, most of them from Skyline and Canada, said they had been embarrassed by recent acts of vandalism on district property and they felt those acts would reflect unfavorably both on themselves and on the coming election.

Tim Tatman, a co-chairman of a concerned student group at Canada College in Redwood City, told the board in a prepared statement:

"It has come to our attention that there are certain groups who intend to do everything in their power to see that the March 2 emergency tax election fails. They have already attempted to discredit the students of the district in several ways.

"Therefore, in order to prove the true intent of the district students, the student council of Canada College passed a resolution offering a reward of $125 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of any persons committing felonious vandalism on any of the three district campuses.

"We have sent letters to the student councils of both Skyline and CSM asking that they pass similar resolutions. Hopefully allocating funds on a percentage basis so that we can have a total reward of at least $500."

A spokesman from Skyline said that students there were ready to contribute $200 to the fund.

A CSM student leader said that he expected his group to approve the move as well.

In addition, spokesmen from all three campuses told the board members that students have been increasing their election activities in recent weeks and that it has filtered down to the high schools in the county as well.

Board members expressed optimism that the override measure would pass, but at least one man in the audience did not agree with them.

Robert Lewis, a member of the San Mateo United Homeowners group, told the board that he was "unable to share your optimism."

"I don't feel you will be able to have this meaure pass," he said. "The board is showing a remarkable lack of responsibility. You are not coming across to he people from whom you are asking the money. There is a need for straight talk, to show some concrete cuts. This is a time of economic problems all over the country. Everyone is cutting back. But you are asking for more."

Lewis told the board that, although he was sympathetic to the educational needs of the district, he felt he ought to let the board members know about the negative feeling in the community.

"You are telling us this is an either-or situation," he continue. "Things up here are either going to be all blue skies or it's going to be a deep dark hole. There's nothing in between." He admitted that this was the first time he had ever attended a board meeting.

He added that some college officials seem to take a kind of ironic delight in seeing other public-supported institutions (other school districts, etc.) coming out in favor of the election. Lewis said he could see no reason for elation when one such body comes out in favor of raising taxes for another similar related body.

Lewis' remarks were challenged point by point by several members of the board, including the election's campaign chairman, Matt Fasanaro, who is also the district's business manager.

Several board members said they were surprised that Lewis had not heard that they had indeed made many economies both for now and for future budgets—even if the measure passes.

Trustees Francis Pearson told Lewis: "All of your questions have been answered in the past few weeks. It is incredible to me that you can stand there and make statements."

Lewis retorted, "I'm warning you, it's going to fail."

Students Learn About Omelets

By VERA MARCUS

A successful scientific experiment of a huge omelet? That was the question on the Parkway Junior High School campus in South San Francisco during a recent noon hour.

Two girls wearing slacks and munching slices of dry toast anticipated the omelet. So did at least 30 seagulls suddenly hovering over head. A bespectacled youth adjusted his glasses and observed aloud, "It's not feasible. With the velocity of descent and the jolt of impact — it won't work."

According to instructor Stephen W. Cohen, his ninth grade Earth Science Classes had received an assignment relating to their recent studies of gravitational attraction and acceleration. The assignment was also related to the fact that the common chicken egg shell is one of the strongest containers produced by nature. It is almost impossible, if squeezed by one hand on the pointed ends, to break or crush the egg.

The students were instructed to package an egg with any type of material, limiting the size to no larger than 6"x6"x6", so the egg would not break when dropped from various heights. The majority of the class solved the problem.

Then class members wanted to drop their eggs from greater heights. Since Parkway school consists of single story Cohen turned to Assistant Chief Al Brauns of the South San Francisco Fire Department for help. Brauns arranged to have a fire department vehicle come to the school to assist in the experiment.

Standing below the hook and ladder unit, Fireman Bob Barrett noted, "They told us to take a hook and ladder up to Parkway School. I thought it might be something to do with a flagpole. Then, they told us we would be dropping eggs from the top of the ladder. I thought 'Oh, Boy'."

Fireman Dave Anderson made three runs up the 75 foot ladder to drop individual containers, with student's names on each lable. As various packages descended and splattered there were anguished cries of "Ooh!," for "Operation Splat." When they landed without the swooshing sound there were shouts of approval. As one package headed toward the ground, a saran wrap parachute suddenly emerged as it glided slowly earthward to choruses of "Neat."

Judge de Larios at Chicago Meet

Municipal Court Judge F. J. de Larios is attending the Chicago mid-winter meeting of the National Conference of Special Court Judges, of which he is secretary.

The organization has presented seminars and institutes in several sections of the United States. Judge de Larios, of the North County Municipal Court in South San Francisco, has appeared in the role of instructor at several of the seminars.

He has instructed such various groups as newly appointed California judges, Idaho magistrates and judges of the military services in the fields of court administration, sentencing and probation, civil trial and small claims procedures and the nature of the judicial function.

Judge de Larios is a governor of the Board of the North American Judges Association and a member of the California conference of judges Committee for the California College of Trial Judges.

Meeting Change

The Daly City Recreation Commission meeting normally scheduled for the fourth Wednesday in February has been rescheduled for Wednesday, March 3, at 7:30 p.m., in the Council Chamber at City Hall.

SMJC Tax Election

Board Vows Economies

By JOHN HORGAN

WASTE and inefficiency.

These are the evils which taxpayers are becoming increasingly riled about. They are threatening to vote "no" on any attempts to raise their taxes — no matter what the issue.

As a matter of principle, they say they are fed up, tired of what they feel is a crushing tax burden which is sapping their salaries and draining them dry.

Last of a Series

The taxpayer has had it.

For this reason, officials at College of San Mateo have launched a comprehensive campaign to cut costs, to refine their operation and to reduce any fat that may exist in their programs or policies.

In relation to the junior college district's crucial March 2 tax override election (at which time San Mateo County citizens will decide whether or not to close down two of the institutions three campuses and to turn away an estimated 17,000 full and part-time students in the fall), the Board of Trustees has vowed to enact a three-pronged set of economies in the coming fiscal year if the 11-cent override measure passes.

Those economies include: levying no more than seven cents of that 11-cent increase in the coming fiscal year; reducing administrative costs by a minimum of 15 per cent in the next fiscal year; and, moving the rented district office on Pioneer Court in San Mateo back to district-owned property.

If the election fails, the cuts are scheduled to be much greater.

Besides the reductions in study body and capital equipment (buildings, etc.), the Board has voted to trim 33 of the present 50 administrators from the staff, to cut the teaching staff from 427 to 235, to chop out the summer school, to drop the evening division entirely and to lop off about two-thirds of the clerical personnel.

The budget for this reduced operation has been set at about $8.7 million a little more than half of the present budget.

A defeat on March 2 would bring the district down to a bare bones level of existence.

Trustee Eleanore Nettle termed the potential fall-back plan "a repugnant and odious plan" at last week's meeting of the Board.

Canada College President William Goss termed the plan "a meat ax blow" to the district at that time.

Responding to questions from the community early last November, CSM Chancellor Clifford Erickson has repeatedly attempted to show that his administration is trying to cut costs.

A suggestion was made that the district might sell its Coastside property (on which a fourth campus may be built in the future). Erickson said, "Since the district's master plan includes future development of a campus in that area, it would appear short-sighted to relinquish owned land . . . and then purchase other property later at a greatly inflated price."

Erickson has also defended the administrative arrangement which finds each college with a separate president, all under the aegis of the chancellor.

He said, "Because of the actual workload as well as inevitable conflicts in emphases, one person cannot serve effectively as both president of a college within a district and as chancellor (or superintendent) for a total district, and the same differentiations apply to staff personnel."

The Board of Trustees, however, last week ordered the administrative to cut its costs by 15 per cent even if the override passes and to reorganize itself at every level of function.

The suggestion has also been made that the school reduce the number and extent of different classes offered, especially in the adult program.

"Any such changes would require a sweeping redefinition of the philosophy and purposes of the colleges, which are now defined as comprehensive educational institutions," Erickson noted. He added that fees for non-credit courses and adult fees for credit courses sustain costs for these classes.

Erickson also has responded to the possibility of closing down Canada College in Redwood City.

"It should be remembered," he said, "That both Canada College and the College of San Mateo are operating at enrollment levels above the capacity ratings assigned them by the state, and still further enrollment increases can be expected every foreseeable year ahead. If district operations were to cease at Canada, no junior college facilities would be available for the thousands of overflow students who would be displaced."

Erickson further stated that, "All available evidence indicates — at enrollment levels of the present, let alone the future—that:

1. San Mateo Junior College District needs all three of its colleges.

2. These colleges, particularly Canada and Skyline colleges, need additional classroom space and.

3. San Mateo County also needs a state college, preferably confined to upper division and graduate studies to afford local students a better opportunity to continue their higher education."

TREE PLANTING — Teacher Howard Wolf watches as almost 50 George Washington Elementary School children prepare to plant Monterey pines provided by the State Division of Forestry. Ecology project is intended to not only beautify the school grounds but to reduce soil erosion as well. Students planted nearly 250 trees on south side of the Daly City campus.

Two Arrested After Attack

Two men were arrested Thursday by South San Francisco police shortly after they forced their way into a Pacifica home at knifepoint.

The occupant of the house at 642 Manor Drive, Leroy Ambrosen, was cut on the right hand during the intrusion, police said.

Pacifica police said they were unable to unravel the reason for the incident at this time and investigation was continuing.

Arrested were Deuadry "Rock Roquemore, 29, a San Quentin Work Furlough Program participant, and John Tyrone Reed, 29, of 72 Langton Street, San Francisco.

The suspects attempted to flee the scene

Study of Summer School Necessary?

The president of the Jefferson Council of P-TA's in Daly City said she believes the community's summer school program should be re-examined to more fully satisfy the needs of the community.

Mrs. Peter Markovich urged Jefferson Elementary School District trustees to study the comments in relation to the questionnaire's 12 points, particularly those in which the results were not decisive.

No conclusion on some could be made, she acknowledged, and urged that the comments need to be reviewed.

"For example, under the question on summer school, the comments most frequently made had to do with the reasons for having summer school," she said.

Some of the comments ranged from "It should continue for those students who need specific instructions to help" and "Summer school sessions would help slower students and add more knowledge to brighter children" to "Keeps the children out of mischief and off the streets" and "Glorified baby sitting."

Mrs. Markovich said remarks like those were commonplace.

She also pointed to the comments about the cafeteria program.

"Here again," she told trustees, "there seems to be a great concern over the needs of some children to have a hot lunch supplied for them, and yet, some question as to whether or not this particular program fulfills the needs and is the most desirable program for the entire district."

The thoughts in that category were varied: "Students complain—food is deplorable"; "Children need a hot lunch, especially in Daly City. The weather is not the best"; "This may be the only hot meal some children get"; "I have three children and cannot afford for them to buy lunch every day. Perhaps we could have a bag lunch provided for needy children."

Bandits Rob Bruno Clerk

Two armed gunmen robbed a San Bruno liquor store about 7 p.m. February 9 escaping with $38 from an employe's wallet and an undetermined amount of money from the cash register.

Police said two men in their twenties walked into Zanettis Liquors, 730 Kains Avenue, and ordered clerk Stephen Schiappacasse to the back room.

The robbers, police said, told Schiappacasse to lie down on the floor, and hand over his wallet. Both were carrying weapons described as .38-caliber pistols.

Police said the pair opened the cash register, emptied it and fled on foot.
